Cases Last Saturday

"Ten cases is plenty for a Saturday. There will be no more of this continued stuff to the last day of the week. I won't stand for it—that's all," was the ultimatum hurled forth by Judge Thomas J. Enright in police court this morning.

This decision was the result of requests by counsel for Saturday continuances. After each request the court mildly suggested some other date. Finally after two or three requests had been made he declared himself.

"Why, look at last Saturday's list," said Judge Enright. "We had a list of at least 30 cases. I do not want such a condition to occur again."

Saturday has long been looked upon as an ideal day for the postponement of cases. Members of the bar like

Had 300 Pickets in Line—Pickets Claim That Not More Than 300 Operatives Entered Mill—No
Statement Forthcoming From Mill Officials

The gates of the Hamilton mills in Jackson street were thrown open this morning, the first time such action has been taken by the officials of the company since the strike started, 13 weeks ago today.

The exact number of operatives who are working today could not be ascertained as the agent of the mill could not be reached and no one in the office was authorized to speak for the company. Strike leaders, however, claim the number of employees who entered the mill at 7:15 o'clock was not larger than usual, and they base their contention on the reports of the pickets who were on duty at the mill early this morning.

The plant of the Hamilton was never shut down light, as between 150 and 200 operatives were kept busy at the mill, finishing up products that had been left on the machines, but these employees were never let in through the main gates of the plant. According to the strikers, some of the employees entered the mill by way of the boiler room entrance in Middlesex street, while others went in through the small gate at the office and via the rear end of the mill in the rear of the police station.

This morning, however, the main gates were thrown open and those who wished to enter the mill were not stopped by the corporation watchmen.

300 Pickets on Duty

It seems that last Friday night the strike leaders were tipped off that an attempt would be made this morning by the mill officials to reopen the plant and as a result there were no less than 300 pickets in line in Jackson street at seven o'clock this morning. The pickets stood in line, but did not attempt in any way to interfere with those who entered the mill. They claim not more than 300 entered.

John Hanley, strike leader in this city, who was employed at the Hamilton mills prior to the strike, stated this afternoon that the action of the mill officials in opening wide the gates does not mean the strike is over. When questioned about the number of men and women who reported for work he replied that as far as could be learned from pickets, it did not exceed the number that has been at work right along. He said reports were turned in to the effect that more employees entered the mill via the Middlesex street entrance, and that at 8 o'clock as has been customary for the past few weeks, a number of those who went in at 7 o'clock, came out again.

Leaders Not Discouraged

"We are not a bit discouraged by the action of the mill officials," he continued, "for we feel certain that the strikers will remain loyal. They are fighting for a good cause and they are not yet ready to throw up the sponge and desert the ranks. The reopening of the mill gates will simply stimulate the strikers and I feel that they will stand firmer than ever. I am informed that several of those who went into the plant this morning have never been employed at the Hamilton, but are operatives from other mills that have been curtailing of late."

Mr. Hanley announced that he will get in touch immediately with Vice-President Starr of the United Textile Workers of America, who is now in charge of the textile strikes in Manchester, N. H., and he expects he will address a mass meeting of the Lowell strikers tomorrow afternoon in Trades & Labor hall. This afternoon the strikers were addressed by General Organizer Thomas J. Reagan, who left his post at Lawrence this noon to come to this city and say a few words of encouragement to the Lowell strikers.

Due to Fumigating Gas

NEW YORK, May 8.—Ell du Puy, manager of Hotel Margaret, in Brooklyn Heights, and Albert Bradish, a vermin exterminator, were held in $5000 bail on warrants of suspicion of homicide by Magistrate Gelmar today, as the result of the deaths at the hotel recently of Mr. and Mrs. Fremont M. Jackson, who are alleged to have been killed by fumigating gas.

The action followed examination of the body of Mr. Jackson and a second autopsy which was said to have shown death was caused by poisoning from cyanogen gas alleged to have been used in fumigating rooms beneath those in which the Jacksons lived.

Du Puy and Bradish are alleged to have caused the deaths by negligence in not properly sealing the rooms.

ANOTHER SNAGSheet Asphalt Contract Not Yet Signed—Plant Co. Under DiscussionAllegation Made That Concern Has No Incorporate Organization in State

While it is believed that the contract to supply the city street department with sheet asphalt this year will go to the Plant Engineering Co. of Boston, no binding papers have been signed for the reason that it is alleged that the concern in question has no definite organization and further the allegation has been made that persons interested in it will not incorporate unless the Lowell contract is secured.

Investigation at the office of the purchasing agent disclosed the fact that the certified check for $500 that accompanied the bid submitted by the Plant Co. bears the signature of "Edgar S. Hill, trustee." Mr. Hill is an attorney-at-law with offices at 51-53 Tremont building, Boston. Whether he is an officer of the company is not known.

City Solicitor Edward J. Tierney was not in town today and it could not be learned whether or not further investigation will be made before the contract is signed.

There is another angle to the story, too. When the Plant Engineering Co. submitted the low bid of $1.35 per square yard for sheet asphalt, it attached a memorandum to the proposal to the effect that if the city contracted for 100,000 square yards of asphalt during 1922 and 1923 at the end of that period the company would turn over to the city, free, a sheet asphalt mixing plant, valued at $15,000.

This stipulation was protested by the representatives of the Framingham Construction and Supply Co., who also protested all bids while an Enthusiastic and favorable replies have been received from Dracut, Tyngsboro and Billerica. The others have not been heard from. Dracut and Tyngsboro officials called on Superintendent of the Lowell police as special officers of each town.

Homeless as Result of Flood

NEW ORLEANS, May 8.—(By the Associated Press).—Approximately 70,000 men, women and children are homeless in Mississippi and Louisiana as the result of the Mississippi river flood and of this number 40,000 are being fed, sheltered and clothed by the Red Cross and other organizations, it was officially announced today by various relief bodies. No provisions have been made to aid the 30,000 persons who have not reached the refugee camps, the statement said.

Warrants Issued For Morse and Sons

NEW YORK, May 8.—Bench warrants were issued today for Charles W. Morse, and his three sons, Erwin A., Benjamin W., and Harry P., because they failed to appear to plead on indictments brought in federal court charging them with use of the mails to defraud investors in stock of the U. S. Steamship Co. Judge Augustus N. Hand issued the warrants on the request of Assistant U. S. District Attorney John F. Joyce. When the case was called last week, it was stated that Charles W. Morse was in Augusta, Me., but would be on hand today. Stewart G. Giboney, an attorney named in the same indictments was allowed until May 15 for pleading because his counsel is out of town.

MAMARONECK, N. Y., May 8.—The bodies of John C. Kane, Jr., 34, and Miss Elizabeth Dunn, 32, were found in the woods of Alton Wood park, near here, today.

Miss Dunn had been slain by a bullet through the heart. Kane was killed by a bullet which ranged upwards through the mouth.

An automatic pistol was found at his side.

Kane, a clerk in the Mamaroneck postoffice, was reported to have been engaged to Miss Dunn, a school teacher. Her home was in Weedsport.

Police reported there was no evidence of a struggle at the spot where the bodies were found.

A small bouquet of wild flowers, clutched in the dead girl's hand was still unscathed when the double tragedy was discovered.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

At a meeting of the board of directors of the chamber of commerce held this noon a list of routine business was transacted, but nothing of importance came before the gathering. President Edward Fisher occupied the chair.

Injunction against the city was pending, for the reason that it was outside the specifications. He claimed that such an order should not be considered as the city had not signified any intention of going into the business of mixing road material.

There is also a question as to whether or not the city has the right to enter into a two-year contract.

If the Plant Co. receives the contract, it will be six weeks before its mixing apparatus is set up in the city, ready to use, said City Engineer Keeney today. Once working, however, the sheet asphalt is laid very rapidly.

SOFIA, Bulgaria, May 8.—(By the Associated Press).—A threat to blow up the American legation here unless the United States backs about the release of Sacco and Vanzetti, communists, under conviction for murder in Massachusetts has been received at the legation.

"The second bomb will not fail," the article says, referring to the explosion of an internal machine at the legation on March 11. The building is being watched day and night by special agents.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., May 8.—Pay five and one-half cents for a gallon of fuel oil.

Put it in the gas tank of your auto. And travel 500 miles!

You can do that with a new oil engine, just perfected here by H. H. Elmer, the inventor says—and tests bear out his claims.

Experts who've flocked here to inspect the new device declare it will turn the automobile world inside out and may bring automobile travel within the reach of the poorest.

Besides, they predict, it will cheapen transportation and cut down the prices of many manufactured articles, for the engine can be used to operate machinery as well as to run an automobile or truck.

Elmer's engine is based on the newest chemical discoveries. It has been learned that oil—mineral, vegetable

JOHN H. PATTERSON DEAD

Founder and Retired President of National Cash Register Co. Drops Dead

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., May 8.—John H. Patterson, founder of the National Cash Register Co., Dayton, O., and chairman of its board of directors, died suddenly yesterday aboard a train bound for this city.

He was stricken with a heart attack and died before medical assistance could reach him. He was chatting with his valet when, as the train passed through Kirkwood, Camden county, he suddenly fell unconscious. A physician on the train vainly tried to revive him. He had been a sufferer from a chronic cardiac condition.

The body was sent to an undertaking parlor here. William Roberts, the valet, notified the family.

Mr. Patterson had reservations at a beach front hotel, where he was to have stayed two weeks for the benefit of his health. Arrangements probably will be made to take the body to Dayton.

John Henry Patterson, who started life as a farmhand near Dayton, Ohio, and established the biggest business of its kind in the world on the land that he had plowed as a boy, retired as president of the National Cash Register company on July 16, 1921. Upon retirement he was elected chairman of the board of directors, an honorary position. At the time of retiring, he was 77 years old, having been born on a farm December 13, 1844.

He did farm work, canal toll collecting, retailing of coal, mine operating, and finally "went west" to seek his fortune as a ranch owner and orchard owner before he hit the central idea of his career, manufacturing and selling cash registers.

Mr. Patterson studied two years at Miami university at Oxford, Ohio, and afterward at Dartmouth.

After his venture as a ranchman in Colorado he returned to Dayton, where he set up a factory for making cash registers, employing at first 13 men. After achieving success he aided to transform a slum factory district into sanitary and better working conditions.

In 1901 France made him chevalier of the Legion of Honor in token of his interest in employees and in 1919, Miami university at Oxford, Ohio, gave him the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws for welfare work and advanced business methods.

In the Dayton flood of 1913, Mr. Patterson stayed off the threatened destruction of his business and helped the city to recover from the disaster.

His civic work resulted in placing the city under commission manager government and his appointment as chairman of a commission by the governor of Ohio. Through Mr. Patterson's personal supervision, $2,000,000 was raised to prevent future floods in Dayton.

In the world war he placed his factory at the disposal of the government but refused to accept contracts on a cost plus basis. He said it was not right to work on a basis where the more he spent the more he made, because the tax-payers of the nation had to bear the burden.

He turned business a battle of wits and the man who thought the fastest almost always was declared the winner.

Mr. Patterson was the son of Col. Robertson Patterson, founder of Lexington, Ky. His mother, Julia Robert Patterson, was the daughter of Col. John Johnson, famous Ohio Indian agent of the United States government. His wife was formerly Katherine Beck, of Brookline, Mass.

Radio Frequency Hook-Up Increases Receiving Range of Set

HOOK-UP OF RADIO FREQUENCY AMPLIFIER

BY R. L. DUNCAN
Director, Radio Institute of America
To increase the receiving range of a radio set, arrange it in a radio frequency receiving circuit. This will pick up signals from far-away points that could not otherwise be detected.
In the arrangement in the diagram, the radio frequency amplifiers are placed ahead of the detector. This strengthens the signals which would be too feeble otherwise to pass into the detector with enough of rectification.
In an audio frequency circuit the amplifier is placed after the detector to give greater volume to the incoming signals after passing through the detector.

Hook-Up
Referring to the diagram, we have the actual with a variable condenser in series.
No. 1 represents the antenna inductance. This should be a honeycomb or air-lateral coil, the size to be used depending upon the desired wave length.
No. 2 and No. 3—Amplifier or "load" vacuum tubes.
No. 4 and No. 5—Efficient rheostats.
No. 6 and No. 7—Potentiometers which give finer variation of the filament current.
No. 8 and No. 9—Radio frequency transformers.
No. 10—Variable condenser of about 500 microfarads, connected in the plate circuit of the second amplifying tube.
No. 11—Another variable condenser.

No. 12—Grid condenser of .0025 microfarads and grid leak of 1 megohm.
No. 13—Detector tube.
No. 14—Rheostat controlling filament current in detector tube.
No. 15—Tie-back coil giving regeneration to the circuit. This may be a variable or a honeycomb, or air-lateral coil.
No. 16—High resistance head phones shunted by fixed condenser.
No. 17—Six-volt storage or "A" battery.
No. 18—Variable "B" battery which should have a varying voltage from 17 to 45 volts.
The amplifying tubes take approximately 45 volts on the plate while the detector tube takes approximately 250 volts. "B" batteries may be purchased with varying steps. These would be preferable in this hook-up, would be preferred to the variable power of the set, audio amplification may be added after the detector for a still greater volume of reception.

PICTURES SENT BY RADIO

Greatest Development in
Wireless Yet Announced—
Experiments Satisfactory

By EDWARD M. THIERRY
(Copyright, 1922, by N.E.A. Service)
WASHINGTON, May 8.—C. Francis Jenkins, noted inventor, has given N.E.A. Service the first public explanation of an epoch-making invention—the long distance camera.
Radio photography, says Jenkins, is an accomplished fact.
Photographs—perhaps even motion pictures—can be sent by wireless.
The new invention includes a device by which pictures can be sent secretly a tremendous weapon in warfare and espionage.
The first hint of this startling invention was given by Jenkins at a closed meeting of the Society of Motion Picture Engineers, of which he is the founder, in Boston. By special permission of the society Jenkins gave an interview to his discovery.
Jenkins is the man who is given credit for making movies possible by inventing the intermittent movement of the projector.
"Within a year," said Jenkins, "I expect to have apparatus so perfected that long distance cameras with sending and receiving set will be in the hands of the public for sending photographs by radio any distance.

C. FRANCIS JENKINS

"I have sent pictures from one room to another in my laboratory. The pictures are faithful in every detail."
"Two photographic discs are used in front of the lens to take the picture. The view is caught by a sensitive photoelectric cell, which is connected to an ordinary radio sending set."
"Beams of light are stepped up to high frequency electric waves and are sent in the same manner as sound waves are translated into wireless waves and broadcast."
"At the receiving end a new device is attached in place of the ear piece, now in use and the wireless waves are stepped down into beams of light, and the image taken far away in the past or on the negative. As in an ordinary camera, the negative is then developed and copies printed."
"By another system the image, instead of reaching a negative at the receiving end, can be thrown directly on a screen."
The principle, says Jenkins, will be the invention of another, the picture is taken in front of the lens and a second print at the receiving end.
"Radio photography is the same as radio telephony," he said. "Wireless waves are impressed with picture characterizations. Instead of with sound characterizations. The picture sending set takes the place of the audio and the receiving set takes the place of the telephone receivers."
Naval authorities already have pointed out to Jenkins the tremendous possibilities of sending secret pictures.
"The picture sent by radio has no printed in one corner a tiny black spot," Jenkins explained. "This is the synchronizing spot. Without it

HOW THEY'LL USE RADIO PHOTOS

These are some of the uses C. Francis Jenkins, inventor of the "long distance camera," sees in radio photography.
Investigation of crime and speeding up pursuit by broadcasting pictures of suspects.
Military and naval weapon by transmission of secret pictures.
Broadcasting of important base-ball games on screens in other cities.
Educational pictures transmitted to schools.
Cheaper and quicker distribution of motion picture films.

"The spot tells him where to focus. Before the picture is sent, word is sent by radio telling him whether the synchronizing spot is in the upper left hand corner, upper right, lower center or wherever the sender wishes."

"Or a definite place for the synchronizing spot can be agreed upon in advance."
"By this means pictures of enemy positions and a thousand and one other things can be sent by wireless."
"A photograph need not be taken first and then sent by radio. A camera with an inexpensive portable aerial can take the picture and at the same time automatically send it secretly to a certain receiving set or broadcast it generally."

"Pictures of criminal suspects can be taken and instantly duplicated in every police station in the country."
"Devices for both sending and receiving pictures will not cost over $50, making possible wide commercial use."

Jenkins is continuing his experiments, chiefly concerned with conquering distance. Until that is accomplished, he says, wireless relay makes radio photography possible immediately.

DAILY RADIO FEATURES

Summer Slump in Radio to Precede Greater Interest in Fall

Look for a drop in radio enthusiasm during summer.
Then for a recurrence of interest in fall, even greater than ever.
That is the prediction of radio engineers and officials who are following the radio situation closely.
The loss of interest in radio during summer will be due mainly to two causes, heat and static.
Heat will drive radio fans out of their attics. Outdoor sports will break into the interest in wireless.
Even those who will insist on tinkering with their receiving sets in spite of the weather, will find static an obstruction as great as, and sometimes greater than, the heat.

Worst Interference
Static does its worst during summer. At times it becomes so powerful that it outshadows the delicate construction of the telephone receivers.

Combination of both these obstructions to wireless practically all year round, makes the radio zone a hot bed around the earth where radio is almost impossible. A powerful set which in the temperate zone can send and receive signals up to 500 and even 750 miles distant, could hardly be heard as close as 10 miles away near the equator.
While heat and static will keep the radio fan from his set during summer, engineers and officials of the large radio manufacturing firms will be busy perfecting the instruments in preparation of greater interest in the science next fall.

Broadcasting System
Already plans are under way for a nation-wide system of broadcasting stations by which concerts and other forms of entertainment will be sent out by radio under the control of a central station.
The American Telephone and Telegraph company, in connection with the Radio Corporation of America and other large radio firms, will be the leader in this enterprise. Al-

A WHO'S WHO ON JENKINS

Who is C. Francis Jenkins?
Years ago he was a clerk in the treasury department. At night he worked on inventions.
"I was going broke doing that," says Jenkins. "So I resigned. I decided to let my inventions save me or kill me."
Jenkins is recognized as the greatest contributor to motion picture mechanics. His intermittent movement for the projector is called the "heart and soul of motion picture."
He is the inventor of electrical devices and paper boxes, and holds some 350 patents.
Wealthily now, Jenkins owns three airplanes and he and Mrs. Jenkins take 100-mile spins almost daily.
Jenkins is in his fifties, a short man with bulky shoulders, reddish mustache, sandy hair and blue eyes.

though nothing definite has yet been said about such plans, it is understood work is progressing toward the development of a national broadcasting system under control of these organizations.

In fact, an officer of one of these concerns has predicted the use of such a system in connection with the wired telephone lines over the country. With the immense central station now being erected on Long Island and New York as main source, concerts and other programs would be sent over the wired lines to the 20 or more sub-stations scattered about the country, from which they could be broadcasted locally.

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

Some Easy and Tasty Ways to Prepare Salt Pork

Salted and smoked meats and fish are always acceptable in the spring and summer months. Many housekeepers in the country are wholly dependent on cured meats for use in hot weather.

Salt pork has solved the problem for more than one noonday dinner table.

CRISP SALT PORK
Cut the pork as in the preceding rule. Cover with boiling water and let stand five minutes. Drain and dip in flour. Put in a hot frying pan over a slow fire. Cook slowly to a golden brown, first on one side and then the other. As the fat fries out in the spider pour it off. This makes the pork very crisp and sweet.

SALT PORK WITH CREAM GRAVY
Eight slices salt pork, flour, pepper, 2 cups rich milk, 1 dessertspoon minced parsley.
Cut the slices of pork about one-fourth of an inch thick. If very salty pour boiling water over meat. Let stand five minutes and drain. Dip in flour and sprinkle with pepper. Fry in a pan should be very hot. Brown quickly on one side, turn and brown on the other. Then cook more slowly until the outside is crisp. Drain on brown paper and arrange on a hot platter.

Pour all but two tablespoons of fat from frying pan. Add one and one-half tablespoons flour, one-eighth teaspoon pepper and stir until flour and fat are perfectly blended and the flour is a pale straw color. Add milk slowly, stirring constantly until the sauce is thick and smooth. Pour into a gravy boat, sprinkle with minced parsley and serve at once.

SALT PORK WITH BEANS
Two cups dried beans, 4 teaspoon soda, 1 medium sizes onion, 1 cup diced carrots, 1/2 pound salt pork, 2 cups teaspoon mustard, tablespoons molasses, 1/2 teaspoon pepper, 2 cups canned tomatoes. Wash beans carefully and let stand overnight in cold water. Drain and put in kettle with soda and hot water to cover. Bring to boiling point in cold water. Do not pour the water in which the beans were cooked in the sink.

Put the onion, peeled but unsteamed, in the bottom of the baking dish. Add half the beans and half the carrots. Pour boiling water over salt pork. Scrape the rind and score in inch squares. Put pork on beans and carrots. Cover with remaining vegetables.

Add mustard, molasses and pepper to tomatoes. Pour over beans and add enough boiling water to cover the whole. Cover and bake three or four hours in a slow oven or fireless cooker. During the last hour of baking bring the pork to the top of the dish to brown. If the oven is hot when the dish is put in, the beans will not lose their shape and become mushy. Reduce the heat as soon as the whole boils all over. (Copyright, 1922, The Lowell Sun)

fresh yeast
helps digestion and cleans a coated tongue

THOUSANDS of men and women have found relief from various digestive disturbances by eating Fleischmann's Yeast.

It is human nature to want to find out "why." So far as science can tell us this is the reason:

Fleischmann's Yeast is a food abundant in certain elements which are necessary to health and life itself. It promotes the flow of bile and of pancreatic juice. It has a remarkably beneficial effect on the whole digestive system. It cleans a coated tongue.

Try Fleischmann's fresh yeast in orange juice or, if you prefer, in milk. Men like it in mill: shakes and malted milks. Women like it spread on bread or crackers.

Keep your digestion in the pink of condition and your tongue clean and healthy by eating 2 or 3 cakes of Fleischmann's Yeast fresh every day before or between meals. Get Fleischmann's Yeast fresh daily from your grocer.

The familiar tin-foil package with the yellow label is the only form in which Fleischmann's Yeast is sold

A poorly nourished baby boy, about 4 months old was left to die inside the fence at Spalding park, presumably some time late yesterday afternoon. Last night about 9 o'clock a man and woman passing the park were attracted by cries and found the child huddled up beside an empty nursing bottle. The child was fully clothed but bore no identification marks of any kind. Police were notified and the body was taken to the Chelmsford street hospital.

FELL THREE STORIES

Two-Year-Old Girl Escaped Without Scratch

NEW YORK, May 8.—A tiny two-year-old girl, Rita Crowley, fell from the third story window of her home in Brooklyn, early today, and escaped without a bruise. She fell into a pile of dirt and was not even crying when picked up.

MISS MARGUERITE K. O'LEARY, of Reading, Pa., who says she has gained eight pounds and can hardly find words to express her praise for Tanlac for the good the medicine did her.

"I am so happy over what Tanlac has done for me I can hardly find words to express my praise," said Miss Marguerite K. O'Leary, who lives with her parents at 1223 Chestnut St., Reading, Pa. "I wasn't exactly what would be called sick, but for a year I had been all run down and sometimes felt so weak and miserable I could hardly hold up my head. I was so nervous the telephone bell or a door closing would startle me so I would tremble like a leaf. "I needed something to build me up and give me strength and energy, and that is exactly what Tanlac did. It gave me a fine appetite and improved my digestion. I gained eight pounds, the color came back to my face, my nerves became normal and I soon felt as well as I ever did in my life. It is simply wonderful that medicine could make such a big change in any one. My friends and neighbors are surprised when they see me now, and no wonder, for I look like a different person. Tanlac is grand and I never intend to miss a chance to say a good word about it." Tanlac is sold by all good druggists.—Adv.

SHE CALLS WOMEN THE FAVORED SEX

Jean Paricot, France's war poet, author of "Fowers of the Trenches," "The Pollu" and many other songs and verses, has come to America. She's now in New York. And this Jean is a vital, brown-eyed, Auburn-haired woman, instead of the man her name leads one to expect. Her name really is Marie Louise Valmalette and she did not write or think of poetry or song until her son was killed in the war. And then another son was killed. And then her husband. And last of all her daughter died from an illness growing out of war service. "I have suffered," says Madame Paricot, "and when one suffers one is forced to self-expression else the weight of the burden must destroy its bearer. "I took a masculine name when I began writing because I did not want to create an atmosphere of cheap sentimentalism about myself and my songs and verses for soldiers. "But," and Madame smiled. Women suffer more because their sensibilities are finer, more delicate. "But as they suffer more they come to know life better, they live more intensely. A woman lives more in one hour than a man lives in a day. That is why I should rather be a woman." In spite of repeated requests to do so, Madame Paricot has rarely appeared in public until recently. Her refusal to was due to the fact that she did not wish to reveal herself as a woman.

CHELMSFORD SCHOOL TEAM WINS CUP

A team from the Chelmsford high school won the cup offered by Earle Kimball for proficiency in typewriting. The cup was contested for by teams from the suburban high schools of this vicinity and was awarded Saturday. All told there were five teams which competed for the prize, and, according to reports, every contestant did remarkably well. The members of the winning team included Ethel Clarkson, Jeanette Parkhurst, Hilma Dungan, and Evelyn Russell. The honor of training the winning team goes to Miss Winifred T. McMahon of North Wilmington, stenographic instructor at the Chelmsford school.

HARVARD OVERSEERS MEET CAMBRIDGE, May 8.—The board of overseers of Harvard university began their annual session today. The work of the Harvard graduate school of business administration was expected to come in for especial attention.

AND SHE WASN'T THE LEAST BIT SCARED!

Stopped late Saturday night by the sight of a brand new auto tire lying at the roadside on the Princeton boulevard a short distance this side of North Chelmsford, a Mrs. Winn of Nashua, N. H., was greatly surprised, but not the least bit taken back, when, after getting out to look over the find, she was confronted by three men. Whatever the men had in mind was evidently dispelled when they found their prey was a woman, for they warm-ly let to be on her way. When Mrs. Winn alighted to examine the tire, it was jerked into the bushes by means of a rope. Confronted by the three men, Mrs. Winn remarked that it was a fine April fools joke. With a grunt, one of the trio answered that it was an April-May joke and told her to be on her way.

The matter was reported to the local police and they in turn have issued a warning to auto drivers to be careful about being led into traps, especially in lonely spots at night.

CERCLE DRAMATIQUE An enjoyable performance was given last evening by the Cercle Dramatique of Lowell St. Joseph's college hall in Merrimack street. The play produced was a four-act Spanish drama entitled "Le Repentir" and the proceeds of the evening will be devoted to the fund for the erection of a rectory in St. Jean d'Arc parish in Pawtucketville. Those who took part in the drama were J. Tessier, L. Daigneault, J. Larose, W. Chaput, L. Pelletier, A. Beauchemin, V. Levy, A. Descelles, A. Nadeau, F. Belloc, L. Lussier, J. Belanger, L. LAST OF VESPER SERVICE SERIES

The last of a series of vesper service was held at the Highland Congregational church Sunday afternoon, with a particular fine musical program, including solos on the organ, choruses by Miss Eleanor S. Hayden of Boston and selections by a male quartet, also from Boston. The pastor, Rev. Richard Peters, preached on "Music of the Soul."

The day also marked the 20th anniversary as church organist of Miss Clara H. Fenton and in recognition of the event she was remembered by the members of the chorus who presented her a beautiful bouquet of roses.

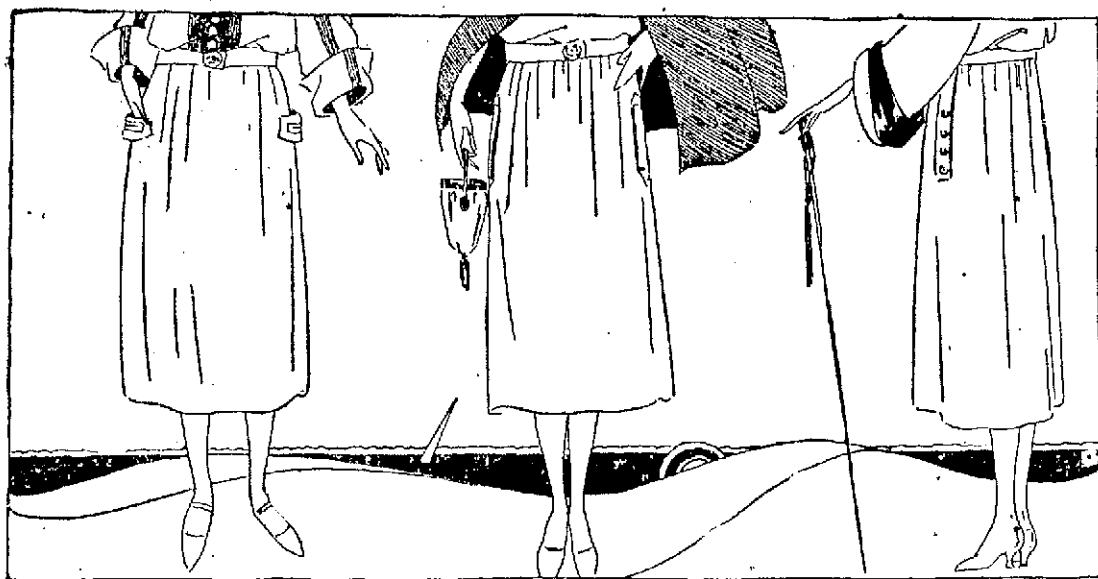

ANOTHER SAFE FOUND IN BILLERICA WOODS

Special Officer Raymond Hopkinson of the Billerica police found a 500-pound safe in the wooded section near the old aqueduct at the Billerica-Wilmington line Saturday afternoon. This is the third safe to be found in this locality within a year. Chief Livingston of the Billerica department identified the safe as one stolen from the H. P. In Some Cities the Furniture Business Has Degenerated Into a Game of Usury and Exploitation. There are Two Ways of Doing Business

OUR WAY

In buying, to select goods with great care. Goods of artistic designs, of substantial construction and good finish.

THE OTHER WAY

To buy flashy goods, the flashier the better. If the customer does not know what is correct style and what constitutes good taste, that's his look-out. Profits immediate, and big profits is what is wanted.

OUR WAY

To have reasonable overhead expenses. To advertise truthfully and moderately. To charge only a fair and reasonable profit.

THE OTHER WAY

To never mind the overhead expenses. To advertise in extravagant space and extravagant language. Use the circus way, use the big drum, boom! boom! Make words do the work of facts. Sell a few articles at cost or less and make the public believe you sell cheap; in fact without profit. And charge exorbitant profit on the rest to cover the above expenses and losses. In other words, exploit the customer who is kind enough to patronize you, instead of serving him. Sell him terms, not Furniture.

OUR WAY

To be lenient with those who owe us, especially if they are sick or out of work.

THE OTHER WAY

To collect your money promptly, seize wages or property and get your own regardless of the hardship on debtor.

It has always been believed that "THE OTHER WAY" would not succeed. But the last few years seem to have changed that belief. There are so many people who don't know the difference between Oleomargarine and Genuine Vermont Butter. Don't be misled by Bombastic Advertisements. You may buy an odd article now and then cheaper elsewhere. But you will pay more on others to more than make up the difference.

ANNUAL MAY FESTIVAL

Ladies' Aid Society of St. Patrick's Parish Plan Big Event

Great activity is being shown during these days in St. Patrick's parish concerning the May Festival to be held in Associate hall, Wednesday, May 10. An effort is being made to make the event this year one of the most successful ever. The object for which the society works—namely work among the needy of the parish—makes its social events very popular—since the proceeds are given over to such a worthy cause. During the rest of the year the members of the Ladies' Aid work quietly and without any show, but on the occasion of the annual festival the members put forth their best energies in a public-spirited way.

The program in the afternoon will be given over the children and will consist in a series of fancy and character dances under the supervision of Miss Charlotte M. Green. In the evening the program will be of a very novel character consisting of a "Grand Indian Pow-Wow" directed by Mr. John P. Plunkett of Boston. In the east will be a large number of the young men and young women of the parish who for a considerable length of time have been rehearsing. There will be assisted in the musical novelty by a couple of artists from Boston, who will be sure to please. The Indian pow-wow will be quite spectacular, and will have for its setting a "campfire" in the middle of the hall. Miss Doyle orchestra will furnish the music.

The various booths will be presided over by competent chairman, each with a long line of assistants and these women will be assisted by some of the ardent workers from among the men.

Officers and committees are as follows: Program, John J. Whelan; decoration, Miss Nellie Bourke; Mrs. Joseph Green; Mrs. Elizabeth Kelly; printing, Miss Josephine Murphy and Mrs. Al. de Parent; tonic table, chairman, Miss Josephine Lyons; ice cream table, chairman, Miss Agnes O'Reilly; novelty table, chairman, Mrs. Peter Leogan; cake table, chairman, Miss Anna Keefe; "old-fashioned grocery store" in charge of Miss Della Furey; lunch wishing well, in charge of Miss Sarah Murray; floor director, Charles J. Leary; assistant floor director, Raymond O'Brien; chief aid, William Barrett.

It will be remembered that some time ago, acting under the by-laws

LAWRENCE MILL OPENS

Patchogue-Plymouth Plant Reopens, But Few Return to Work

LAWRENCE, May 8.—The Patchogue-Plymouth mills, whose offer of a compromise wage reduction was refused last Friday by the 400 strikers of that mill, opened its gates today for those who wanted to go to work. Police officers on duty in the vicinity said very few took advantage of the opportunity and the few who did go to work were escorted and escorted by a hundred or more pickets. There were also about 50 pickets in the vicinity of the Monahan Spinning company, but there was no trouble.

The Cosmopolitan club composed of national groups of employees of the American Woolen company, at field day exercises yesterday adopted a resolution condemning the activities of "agitators and disturbers in Lawrence who are trying to create a feeling of unrest in the minds of the people." A week ago Lawrence wrote a letter to William M. Wood, president of the company, demanding an increase of wages for American Woolen company workers.

"Some of these agitators made efforts to reach our nationality meetings to influence our minds against the manufacturers and against the city itself," the resolution declared. "While we realize that our brothers and sisters who are engaged in an industrial dispute deserve our greatest sympathy, we feel that the efforts of those people who are preaching discord are not making for their advantage."

Of the community, Secretary James Kyriakos ordered the registration closed for February 28 but his action was criticized by President Danas with the result that at a mass meeting held shortly afterwards the secretary was removed from office by the president. Since that time, however, the secretary was reinstated to office at a mass meeting, but the matter of reopening the registration in accordance with the wishes of the president was postponed to a later date.

It was stated today that at another meeting held recently it was voted to uphold the secretary and that registration would remain closed until after the annual election, which is scheduled to be held Memorial day. The vote of the meeting was declared illegal by the president on the ground that there was not a quorum present at the meeting.

Shortly after the opening of last night's meeting the question of registration was again brought for discussion and finally, so it is reported, 80 of the 500 present voted to reopen the registration. The others refusing to vote, as they deemed the affair closed. It is believed by several of the community that if the registration is reopened the election will have to be postponed to a later date. President Danas' version of the affair could not be learned, as Mr. Danas left the city this morning and will not return until next Wednesday.

HENRY P. DAVISON LEFT ESTATE OF $10,000,000

NEW YORK, May 8.—From a close friend of Henry P. Davison, who died Saturday, it has been learned he left an estate of about $10,000,000. He carried a very heavy life insurance, but the exact amount was not ascertainable yesterday. Mr. Davison's public benefactions were large.

More details of the operation which preceded Mr. Davison's death have been disclosed. An instant after Dr. Charles A. Emsberg had reopened the brain last Saturday morning he saw the financiers and was at hand. Mr. Davison died on the operating table one hour and a half after the operation was begun.

Mr. Davison had but a short time to live—30 days at the most—even had the doctors been able to accomplish what they expected to do.

Only Saturday night a small plot in the Locust Valley cemetery was purchased, and Tuesday, according to his request the body will be placed in the little cemetery, following a simple funeral ceremony in St. John's church, Lathrop, N. Y.

Messages of sympathy from all over the world have poured into the Davison home. Late yesterday morning 500 telegrams and cable messages had been received.

The honorary bearers will be all the members of the J. P. Morgan firm. The six official bearers will be chosen today. The honorary list is J. P. Morgan, Edward T. Stotesbury, William B. Hamilton, Charles Steele, William B. Foster, Thomas W. Lamont, Horatio G. Lloyd, Dwight W. Morrow, Edwin S. Stettin, Thomas Cochran, Julius S. Morgan, Elliot C. Bacon, George Whitney, Thomas S. Gates.

Three London partners, E. G. Grenfell, Victor Smith and Charles F. Whigham, the Paris representative, Gold H. H. Harjes, John R. Carter and N. D. Gay will also be honorary bearers.

O. H. Hall yesterday afternoon to hear sub-committee reports on plans for the annual fair and Irish program, which is to be held at Spalding park on May 30. The meeting was presided over by Patrick Lennahan, P.O.U.

The report of Financial Secretary Nevins was read and accepted. It showed the order to be in good condition with no members reported on sick list. Six candidates have passed the examination, were balloted on and will be admitted to the order. At the next meeting of the general committee a chief marshal for the fair will be selected, by ballot, from a list of six candidates. The Emmett band of Irish pipers has been engaged to head the parade on May 30.

Chairman Nevins of the sports committee announced that valuable prizes will be given for Irish dancing and singing and that the O'Garra piano and string band would furnish music. Field Secretary Leahy announced that the Irish republican delegates may attend the field day.

BLEACHERS FOR BASEBALL FANS

Employees of the park department tomorrow will begin the erection of the new bleachers for baseball fans at the South common. The stand will be 240 feet long and will have eight tiers of seats. It will extend from the present backstop down the third base line and will accommodate upwards of 600 persons.

The back on the Summer street side of the common will still serve as a natural bleacher stand and the new seats will do away with the congestion that usually was apparent there.

ANOTHER NEW TRUCK

A new five-ton Packard truck has been purchased and delivered to the city street department. Its cost was $6782.25.

FOUR HOUR RIOT IN CHICAGO JAIL

Outbreak Quelled by Warden
and 30 Guards Who
Whipped Ringleaders

Riot Started on Fourth Tier—
Flaming Blankets Dropped
to Ground Floor

CHICAGO, May 8.—A four-hour riot in the Cook county jail was quelled early today when Wesley Westbrook, warden, and 30 guards removed the ringleaders from their cells one at a time and whipped them. Displeasure of the prisoners over a change in the method of admitting visitors led to the outbreak.

The riot started on the fourth tier. Flaming blankets were dropped to the ground floor. Dense smoke almost suffocated many inmates. With steel strips torn from their bunks, the prisoners beat upon the bars of their cells, the bedlam being heard for blocks. Crowds gathered at the jail entrance and police were called to drive them away.

Warden Westbrook said that after each of more than 900 prisoners had a visitor on a recent visiting day so many packages were left that it took the entire jail force nearly all night to sort them. Guns, saws, files, drugs and all manner of contraband was found, he said.

The warden then decided to divide the jail into four sections and permit only one fourth of the prisoners to have visitors at a time.

MOTHER'S DAY MAY 14

Gen. Pershing Approves
Legion Auxiliary's Plan
for Observance

INDIANAPOLIS, May 8.—Approval of the American Legion auxiliary's plan for observance of Mother's day, May 14, has been received from Gen. Pershing by Mrs. Lowell F. Hobart, national president.

"It is a pleasure for me to add my tribute to our mothers," Gen. Pershing wrote. "The source of all that is best in us, our inspiration for great ideals and our haven of comfort in time of trouble, rests in the mothers of the world, who are responsible for all that is sweet and wholesome in life. To the mothers of America, we bow in grateful appreciation and in undying love."

Gen. Pershing said every man in the United States army would be urged to write a letter home on Mother's day.

WAR VET ASKS GUARD

Going to Washington to Press
Charge of Attempt to Drive
Him Out of U. S.

NEWARK, N. J., May 8.—A request that the British embassy send an agent to escort him from the station tomorrow, so that he would not be molested, has been made by Alexander E. Robertson, British war veteran, who plans to go to Washington to press his charges that private detectives attempted to railroad him out of the country because of his efforts to win the hand of Miss Mary Culbertson, daughter of Senator Charles A. Culbertson of Texas.

Robertson is seeking to have the embassy assist him in obtaining the arrest of John R. Muland and T. G. Anderson on charges of impersonating federal officers. He already has caused the arrest of John P. Ellis, another detective, on a charge of kidnapping. The friendship between Robertson and Miss Culbertson was said to have started at the University of Texas, three months ago, where they both were students. The two met again recently in Washington.

AUTO WHEEL PASSED OVER BOY'S HEAD

John Golding, aged 7 years and residing at 37 Madison street, was struck and run over by an automobile yesterday afternoon while playing in Madison street, and although it is claimed one of the wheels of the machine passed over him, it is stated at St. John's hospital, where the little fellow is being kept under observation, that his condition is not serious.

The automobile that figured in the accident is owned and was being operated by Everett W. Hanson of 69 Nichols street, who reported to the police that shortly before 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon while he was driving his car into Madison street from Thorndike street, the Golding boy ran down the hill into the path of his machine and was knocked down, one of the wheels of the auto passing over

DINNER GIVEN BY HEBREW DRAMATIC CLUB

Last night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Goldman, in Foster street, the cast of the "District Attorney" was tendered a testimonial dinner by the Lowell Hebrew Dramatic club.

Placed before each member of the cast were gifts attached with original poems written by Mrs. Goldman. Vocal selections were rendered by Miss Rose Neyman, Miss Pearl Blum, Louis Neyman and Bernard Knopf. President Max Cohen, on behalf of the club, presented William R. Syde-man, the director of the play, with a gold Eversharp pencil and fountain pen. Mr. Syde-man responded fittingly. No sooner had Mr. Syde-man been honored than Meyer Lipchitz presented Miss Mary Cohen, the assistant director, a silver fountain pen. Miss Cohen expressed her appreciation of the kind remembrance.

General dancing was then enjoyed until a late hour. Ira Harris had general charge, assisted by Milla J. Sandler and Alice E. Ziskind.

A paper on "The Art of Weaving" will be read by George F. Morgan at the next meeting of the Lowell Historical society, which is scheduled for Wednesday night in Memorial hall at 7:30 o'clock.

The following has been received from M. Curran: "On Saturday night Sun it was stated that I captured the Rock Street stars and that we beat the Mohawks. I have no objection with the Stars and do not know them. I favor the Mohawks and would not like to see them defeated. I would like to know who put the piece in the paper."

The following, received from Leo Paul may clear up the above question: "I wish to take back a little of what I said in Saturday night's Sun. I acted on what I thought would come when I signed M. Curran's name to the piece. I expected to have Curran on my team."

and his name was taken up as captain. I was not so much as such. I am sorry for the misunderstanding. In our game with the Mohawks we defeated them 15-3 as we stated in Saturday's paper. Some may use rings as the following is our lineup: L. Paul c and captain; B. Riley p and manager; C. Charley 1b; P. Fitzgerald ss; Edwin 2b; Ken 3b; McPherson 4b.

SPORTS OF ALL SORTS

Gene Delmont of New York, who was scheduled to meet Puggy Minton here on next Friday night, will not appear, but in his place will appear Willie "Young" Gradwell of Newark, N. J., another very prominent lightweight.

Delmont's inability to come here is due to the postponement of his bout in New York with Vincent "Finger" Martin to next Friday night. He had planned for the fourth bout, before taking the Lowell engagement. He notified the local promoter of his position and agreed to come here later and carry out his contract. It is hoped he will be satisfactory to the Lowell club.

Promoter Dodge had Delmont's signature to a contract but when he learned the facts of the situation and that the New York bout meant a big financial return to Delmont he waived all claim to his services and said he would use him later in the season.

Mr. Dodge then got busy and experienced good luck in finding Gradwell available. Gradwell's record is very impressive. He has met Willie Jackson, Benny Valner, Frankie Britt, Johnny Clifton, Joe Tipton, Harry "Kid" Brown and many others.

Dan Cavallini has recovered from his indisposition of last week and will meet Red Minton in the semi-final of the Lowell tournament. Cavallini is a very experienced fighter and is expected to give Minton a hard fight.

Carpentier-Lewis Battle Thursday

CARPENTIER

LEWIS

Upon the outcome of George Carpentier's fight on May 11, in the arena in London, with Ted "Kid" Lewis, will depend the French gladiator's plan to challenge the winner of the Green-Turney encounter for light heavyweight honors, set for New York on the night of May 25.

In case George should lose to the "Kid" he would be content to put off for a meeting with the New York victor, but he is in correspondence with the managers of the two prospective participants in this encounter on the recent suggestion that there is no doubt he will accept himself as inferior to himself, and in the next opportunity.

He might, for that matter, choose a game closer to home, and a good one in the semi-final of the tournament.

HOLYOKE TEAM WINS STATE CUP FINAL

After two and one-half hours of the most gripping football match the Abbot Worsted soccer team was forced down to a 2-3 defeat by the Palois of Holyoke in the state cup final played at Saturday afternoon in Quincy before a record crowd.

With the score a tie at two all after more than two hours of fast play Jimmy Brown, of the Palois, headed the ball by deflection for what proved to be the winning goal of the topped soccer team on record in this state. The game was only five minutes old when Brown's shot, fired from a point from twenty yards, scored the first goal. Not more than a minute later a shot from the Palois, fired from the edge of the goal, was deflected by Brown's head into the net. This made the score 2-1. The game was decided to play a 20 minute overtime period.

In this period both teams continued to play hard. Brown's brilliant forward play, took the ball on a run down the entire field and shot it into the goal. Shortly before the end of the period Brown was substituted. The ball and a foul was called on the Palois. Brown made good the try for goal and the score was 3-2. With the players of both teams tiring, another 20 minutes overtime period was decided upon. It was in this period that Brown made himself a hero in the eyes of the Palois. A large number of points from this period accompanied the team. The Abbot's best was in the form. The final score was 3-2.

Victors—Goal: W. Gray; back: L. Gan and Frederic; forwards: Ryan, A. Gray and M. J. Dwyer.

A letter pertaining to boxing and signed by Ted Brown, 28 O'Connell street, contains the following: "Young Charles of Manchester, N. H., has been fighting since he was 10 years old. He has won many fights and is now a professional fighter. He is expected to fight a big fight in the near future."

On April 22, he hit three home runs in one day, taking his place in baseball history. He is now a professional player and is expected to win many more games.

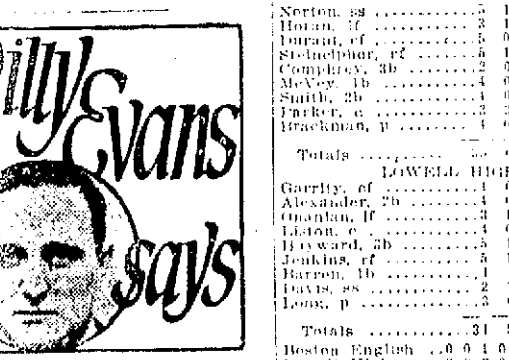

Beckley of the Cincinnati Reds was the last player to hit three home runs in a single game. That was on September 27, 1907. Four home runs in two games have been made by only four players.

BRITISH FLAG TO FIGURE IN SPEED EVENT

By N. E. A. Service
INDIANAPOLIS, May 8.—The British colors will figure in the parade before the tenth annual 500-mile race on the Indianapolis motor speedway May 30. Secretary Manager T. E. Stevens has received by cable a definite entry from W. Douglas Hawkes of a Bentley car. It is expected Louis Chevrolet will make an eleventh-hour entry of a team of Sunbeams, but this is not quite certain.

Jules Goux is in this country with two new Buick models, but has not yet announced his teammate. In the French Grand Prix last year Goux took one of his small two-litre (122 cubic inch) Buicks into third place. His car lacked the speed of others, but Goux had the skill to outmaneuver his swifter competitors. The same pilot was the first foreigner to win at Indianapolis, taking the 1912 event with a Peugeot. He failed in his attempt to win the 1920 race, but he did win a triple that year and Mme. Goux is coming here for a visit while her husband tries his luck on the speedway.

In addition to the English and French flags it is expected the Italian colors will be seen in the contest. Only Germany and Belgium will be missing among all the countries which ever have entered cars in the 500-mile classic.

Billy Evans says

The landing in the American league has been a disappointment to be relieved as to the elimination of the lively ball. The American league has been a disappointment to be relieved as to the elimination of the lively ball.

In some games I would reach the pitcher on that ball in use was far inferior to the ball of last year from the standpoint of carrying quality. It is not possible that some clubs will have left over from last year the ball used.

N. Y. PITCHERS IN GREAT FORM

Jess Barnes of Giants Pitches No-Hit, No-Run Game Against Phillies

Sam Jones of Yankees Allows Washington But Two Hits

—Ty Cobb on Rampage

NEW YORK, May 8.—Missing a perfect game by the narrow margin of one base on balls—given to Williams in the fifth—Jess Barnes, hurling ace of the Giants and a hero of the last world's series, is in the no-hit, no-run ball of fame today.

The Phillies blanked 6-0, were mowed down with monotonous regularity by Barnes, who fanned five and allowed only four balls to get to the outfield.

Barnes' performance gave the McGraw-Jones a commanding lead of 3½ games as they start west to open a series Tuesday with one of their strongest rivals, the St. Louis Cardinals.

Sam Jones duplicated Carl Mays' two-hit allowance of the day before and enabled the Yankees to best Washington easily, 8-1. The victory kept the New York club a step ahead of the Browns, who defeated Cleveland in a heavy-hitting contest.

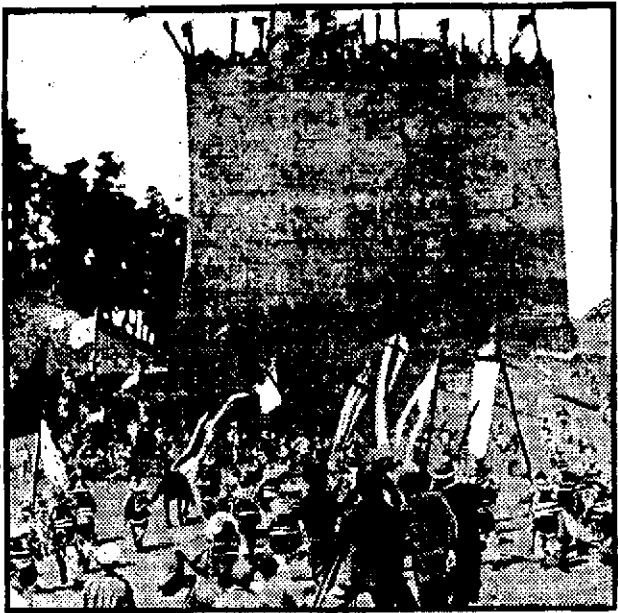

Ty Cobb went on one of his old-time batting rampages, collecting five hits, including three doubles and a homer, in as many times at bat, but his run Churchhill Downs here next Monday.

Powell's ninth inning home run gave Boston a 4-3 decision over Brooklyn. Pittsburgh knocked Alexander from the box and hit three other Cub twirlers hard for an 11-5 victory. Donk had Cincinnati at his mercy, as he was in command and the Cardinals were humbled. Toporcer's hitting proving a feature.

McCormack and King were the big prize winners in last week's competition in the Crescent handicap bowling tournament, each getting $14. McCormack's remarkable three straight total of 420, made Tuesday brought him two prizes, the daily and the individual honors. Sam Whitlock came next with $12. Freddy Schomborn followed with $10, and Kempton picked up $8. The winners, their scores and prizes for the past week, which will be awarded tonight are as follows:

Movie Camera Clicks From North Pole to Equator

A GIGANTIC SET IN A JAPANESE MOVIE LOT. LOOKS LIKE, D. W. MIGHT BE OVER THERE FILMING JAP HISTORY

By JAMES W. DEAN
NEW YORK, May 8.—The cry for "something different" in the movies seems to have been answered in a photoplay recently completed in the Arctic region. It is called "Nanook of the North."

Nanook, the featured player, is an Eskimo. His wife is the leading lady and the rest is made up of Eskimo women and children.

The picture was filmed by Robert J. Flaherty in the region where existence is a constant battle against the elements, where romance blooms and drama moves despite cold and ever impending starvation.

The native hero has a tug-of-war with a walrus and the animal's mate rushes to its rescue.

This picture has not been reviewed by the writer, but its very setting seems to give it merit, for it places the drama of life in a corner of the universe little known to civilized man. It has a stronger flavor of romance than a South Sea Island story or one of the desert sands.

In China

Constance Talmadge will go to China to film exteriors for "East is West" when she completes studio scenes in Hollywood. Chinese rivers and cities, including Shanghai, will serve as backgrounds for the story. This will put realism through the ceiling of Constance Talmadge as "Ming Toy." It is difficult to conceive of one so slim and tall as Connie in a Chinese part. However, one of the worst Oriental characterizations I have ever seen was that of Mary Pickford in "Madame Butterfly." And Mary, you know, is quite petite.

And in Japan

The real thing in Oriental drama may be seen when films now in production in Japan are imported for exhibition here. The Japanese have made remarkable advances in picture making in the past year. Photographs recently sent me indicate that sets for movies being made in Nippon are on the same lavish scale as those of Griffith or Lutzsch. The stories are native historical dramas.

Arbuckle

An exhibitor at Washington, Ind., who hadn't heard of Will Hays' ban on Arbuckle films showed "Brewster's Millions" two nights. The crowd was so great that he raised admission prices for the second night. In Birmingham, Wash., an attempt was made to show a Fatty picture, but the public protested so strongly it was withdrawn.

The W.C.T.U. of Tulare county, Cal., has forwarded protests to all exhibitors in that county against the showing of Arbuckle films. Hays' action applies only to producers and distributors, as he has no control over exhibitors except through distributors. That means that Arbuckle films may show here and there throughout the country despite the ban.

STRIKERS HOLD MASS MEETING

Local Textile Strikers Addressed by John J. Frey of Cincinnati

Meeting Held Under Auspices of Textile Council and Molders' Union

John P. Frey, of Cincinnati, O., editor of the International Molders' Journal, was the speaker at a mass meeting of strikers and local people interested in the labor movement, which was held in the Academy of Music in Dutton street yesterday afternoon. The meeting was the fourth in a series conducted under the auspices of the Lowell Textile Council and was held under the auspices of both the council and the Lowell Molders' Union.

John Hanley, president of the council and strike leader, opened the meeting and introduced as presiding officer, Charles E. Anderson, president of the Trades and Labor Council. In his opening remarks Mr. Anderson told of the various offices Mr. Frey has held during the past 25 years. He reviewed the public life of the visitor, saying he has served on diplomatic missions to Europe, visiting the allied governments on two various occasions and that he also represented the American Federation of Labor at European, Canadian and Pan-American congresses. He introduced Mr. Frey as a man well versed in labor affairs and as a friend of labor.

In his address Mr. Frey declared that in his opinion the manufacturers who say to their help "you shall accept a lower scale of wages and longer hours," and who at the same time refuse to recognize their responsibility to answer to the public, are immensurably more a menace than all the radicals and firebrands who have preached assassination in this country, and they are the slayers of American institutions.

In his opening remarks Mr. Frey said his mission was not to arouse enthusiasm, but to discuss the textile wage situation as it exists and to place the responsibilities of the strikes and their causes. In other words, he said, I will analyze the situation as I see it.

Mr. Frey then told of the circumstances that made him a trade unionist. Many years ago, he said, he set out to compare the trade unionist movement with the principles of American government and Christianity. "I had found that trade unionism was inconsistent with American principles, or with my religious belief," he said, "I would not have become a member of any union."

"My thesis today is that the stand taken by the manufacturers, in this textile wage dispute, is unchristian, un-American and economically unsound. The strike here is not a mere quest for higher wages or shorter hours of labor. It is something more. It is a question of liberty of justice between men, principles which persuade them to confer or go to the polls with their problems rather than resort to the cannon."

"This is Sunday and an appropriate day on which to talk over this situation. Jesus was a carpenter. His apostles were workers. And I believe that a verse in the Bible is applicable to the matter in hand. This verse from the epistles of James read, 'Behold the hire of the laborers who have reaped down your fields, which you have held back by fraud, cryeth out!' Textile Situation

"Now if I understand the textile situation in Rhode Island and Massachusetts, the workers are crying out against wages held back by fraud. I take it that there is no such thing as a Christianly which a man can put on and take off like an overcoat. Moreover, I take it that there are no American principles which a man can put on and take off in the same way. "In analyzing the situation I find that the manufacturers take the position that there is nothing to say. 'We are not going to be accountable to the public,' they declare. I find that their position is like that of a defendant who refuses to testify because he might say something incriminating.

"We may rest assured that if the manufacturers felt their case to be economically and morally sound their long experience with publicity would have led them to flood the papers with statements. The fact that they have remained silent is proof to fair minds that their case will not stand the light of the press."

"What a sad spectacle human nature presents some times! Only a few years ago when the war was in progress, these same men were appealing to the consciences of the workers to help win the war. They didn't use arbitrary methods then. They even demanded that labor submit to arbitration. So it happens that these same men who a few months ago were champions of arbitration now refuse to submit to such a process on the ground that if the board decided in favor of the workers they would be unable to run their mills."

"This extension of the working day is neither sound nor necessary. But you may be sure that it will work to the detriment of the workers. If I came here to set up an institution that would lower morale and your standard of life you would find some way of eliminating me. I tell you that when a manufacturer sets out to determine the standard of living for a worker he is acting unmorally."

Matter of Wages

"In the past we have been prone to regard the matter of wages as something connected merely with dollars and cents. If you stop a moment and think you will find that the dollars and cents should be viewed rather in the light of a standard of living and opportunity for ourselves and for our children. The dollars and cents of pay envelope determine a kind of a home you will live in. They determine whether you live in a two room flat in a crowded tenement without a bath or whether you will live in a cottage with a yard for the children. "Not only do they determine what kind of a home you will have but they determine the quantity and quality of your strength and the health of your children. They determine your physical, moral and mental condition. Statistics prove that all you have to do to determine the infant mortality of any group is to find the wages of the father. Moreover, the dollars and cents of the pay envelope determine the degree of opportunity your children will enjoy and also the length of your own life."

Continuing Mr. Frey said the struggles that are now going on in various textile centers of Rhode Island, Massachusetts and New Hampshire are not a fight against dollars, but a controversy about life itself, and when this question is at issue and a group of men stand up to determine the standard of living for thousands, it is high time for all good citizens to think it over.

Industrial Liberty

"With our religious and political liberties in this country," he declared, "we must also have industrial liberty, and I feel that no man should arbitrarily determine what your working conditions and standard of life should be. I believe that the manufacturers recognize the weakness of their case, and that their own position is unsound but they hope, because of conditions, to be able to force their way."

"The agitator, the man who creates violence, comes into your midst, but you will not tolerate him, for he is a tyrant. Instills poison into the minds of men."

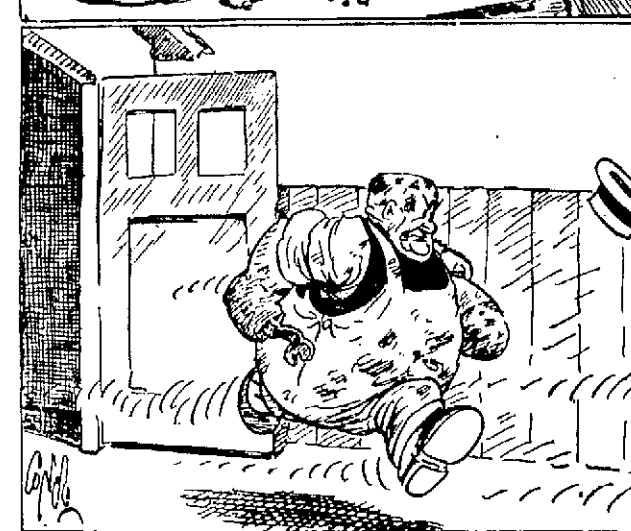

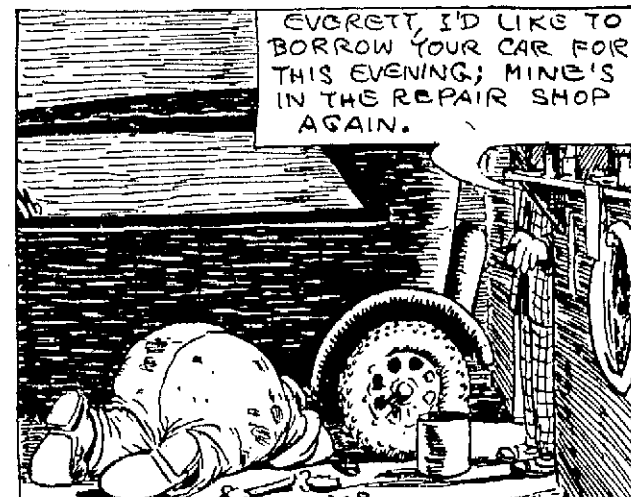

Mr. Frey then addressed the strikers, saying the justice of their cause is one thing and the winning of it is another. He said the danger of losing the fight was in the split in ranks that may be brought about by manufacturers or their agents, and warned his listeners to be on the lookout for such action. "Keep together," he said, "keep up the good work and before long you will have won industrial liberty." He concluded by saying there is no place for arbitrary spirit in American institutions.

At the close of Mr. Frey's address Mr. Hanley announced that on the evening of May 18 a dance and social will be conducted for the benefit of the strikers in Merrimack and Grafton halls. He also announced that the visitor was leaving immediately for Manchester, N. H., where he was scheduled to address the strike gatherings.

THREE HELD AS SUSPECTS

Police Believe Alleged Members of Robber Gang Connected With Murder

Trio Taken in Battle in Wilmington—Loot and 32-Calibre Gun Found

BOSTON, May 8.—With the arrest of three men in a Wilmington farm house, alleged to be members of a robber gang, police think they may have made the first step towards apprehending the murderer of Ralph Brewster, night ticket agent of the Boston & Maine railroad at Winchester, who was shot to death three weeks ago.

When the police surrounded the farmhouse a fight ensued. James McLaughlin and Jeremiah Capello were caught, but in the confusion, two other men escaped in an automobile. Ralph Cobb, was taken into custody later and the police are searching for the woman who escaped.

Near the farm house were found several safes that had been blown open, together with many articles of miscellaneous loot. A 32-calibre revolver, similar to the one the police believe killed Brewster, was also found. During the fighting in the house, one of the men shouted: "Dump that gun out of the window," police said.

Held in $10,000 Bail

BOSTON, May 8.—Three alleged bandits who were captured following a raid Saturday on a farmhouse near Wilmington were held in $10,000 bail today when arraigned in the East Boston court. No pleas were entered.

The three men, James McLaughlin, Jeremiah Capello and Ralph Cobb, were charged with breaking and entering the offices of H. P. Bond & Co., in East Boston with the theft of a safe containing money and Liberty bonds. The Liberty safe was found near the farmhouse among other loot.

MOVE TO OUST PASTOR

Members of Brookline Presbyterian Church File Bill in Equity

BOSTON, May 8.—Nine members of the First Presbyterian church of Brookline filed a bill in equity today with the object of preventing the Rev. Edwin Curtis from continuing to occupy the pulpit as pastor and using the church house as his residence. The bill is against the church as an organization and against also individual members of a faction which has insisted on retaining Mr. Curtis as pastor in the face of charges made by members of the plaintiff faction that he had asked a blessing on French fried potatoes and had baptized a dog. The Boston Presbytery declined to install Curtis formally as pastor but notwithstanding this action, he had continued to preach in the pulpit.

The bill also asks that the court restrain the respondents from using "any of the real and personal property of the corporation, except in accordance with the government, discipline, doctrine and worship of the Presbyterian church in the United States as held by the general assembly of that church."

would not be polled, but an agreed list of candidates would be settled upon, embracing both sides, and the result would be a new list including De Valera, Griffith and Collins, now all for one in southern Ireland.

In June they could each abandon one seat, thus leaving vacancies for two new candidates, one in northern and one in southern Ireland.

Meanwhile, the truth has been extended indefinitely, and the fact that an agreement has been reached for the evacuation of the port board of officers by the Irish is taken as evidence that peace is all around under a new regime is certain.

Five Banks Robbed

BELFAST, May 8.—An armed gang entered the branch of the Northern Bank at point, County Armagh, headed up the staff and robbed the bank of £100.

The gangsters also robbed a farmer counting the money he had received for cattle sold at a fair.

Four banks in County Cavan—those at Kesh, Ballyvaughan, Kesh, Kesh, and Kesh—were robbed by armed raiders today.

Encourages the belief that the international struggle between the two sections of the Ball Eireann, with its actions of the army, is ended for the present. If the peace committee agrees to a body for peace it is believed the war will end.

The terms of the settlement have not been made known, but the whole of the discussion points to Irish coalition.

The present portfolios in the daily are held by men who fill the cabinet and the provincial government. The idea is to have De Valera and some of his supporters once more members of the daily cabinet.

The elections already fixed for June 15, according to the plan outlined.

Adventures of the Twins

VALLEY OF THE MOVIES

THE VERY FIRST HILDBOARD SAID, "STEP INSIDE AND SEE CHARLIE CHAPLIN."

The sixth of the Seven Valleys that the Twins had to go through on their way to the land of Korkor was called the Valley of the Movies. But Nancy and Nick did not know this as they looked down into its depths from the top of a hill.
 "Oh, ho!" said Nick to the dove, who was guiding them. "We don't need to stop here, do we? All I see is a building and Nancy and I can go right past it."
 The dove shook his head sadly. "Don't think that you can fool Twelve Toes, the Sorcerer," said he. "Twelve Toes knows all about you, just where you are and what you are doing and if he cannot stop you altogether, he is going to delay you all the way. He has a magic machine which can throw pictures over the Seven Mountains and all the valleys of this place, and he intends you to see them. The building is a movie theatre."
 "But we'll shut our eyes and not look," protested Nancy.
 "But I tell you they are magic pictures and that you cannot help yourself," cooed the dove mournfully. "I'll fly on as I did before and wait for you on a tree-top at the other side of the valley."
 Away he flew and the Twins started down the path.
 And what do you think! The very first Hildboard said, "Step inside and see Charlie Chaplin."
 It seemed as though they couldn't get by, whether or no. The crowd there was certainly bewitched, and in they walked as though journey and Fairy Queens and important messages counted for nothing at all. It was a funny show and they stayed to the end.
 When it was over they stayed still longer to see another called "Laugh at Harold Lloyd." And there was another and another and another after that. Nancy and Nick stayed on and on completely forgetful of time.
 "Ho, ho, ho! Hee, hee, hee!" giggled Twelve Toes in his cave, as he fixed another film in his machine.
 But he made a mistake. One picture showed a dove and instantly the Twins were reminded of their errand. They left at once.

Disbarment of Pelletier Ordered

COURT SAYS TOO MANY CASES ARE CONTINUED TO SATURDAY

Judge Enright Declares Himself in District Court—Ten Cases, He Says, Are Plenty for Last Day of the Week—Too Many Cases Last Saturday

"Ten cases is plenty for a Saturday. There will be no more of this continued stuff to the last day of the week. I won't stand for it—that's all," was the ultimatum hurled forth by Judge Thomas J. Enright in police court this morning.

This decision was the result of requests by counsel for Saturday continuances. After each request the court mildly suggested some other date. Finally after two or three requests had been made he declared himself.

"Why, look at last Saturday's list," said Judge Enright. "We had a list of at least 30 cases. I do not want such a condition to occur again."

Saturday has long been looked upon as an ideal day for the postponement of cases. Members of the bar like

STRONG APPEAL TO RUSSIANS TO ACCEPT ALLIED MEMORANDUM

GENOA, May 8. (By the Associated Press).—Prime Minister Lloyd George of Great Britain and Foreign Minister Schanzer of Italy addressed today a strong appeal to the Russian representatives at the conference here, urging them to accept the allied memorandum in its main points and promising Russia an international loan, with the understanding that the lending countries would thus provide funds for the reconstruction of Russia.

The allies would claim the right to make sure, however, that the money loaned was actually invested in the work of reconstruction.

It was asserted that altogether the proposed loan would amount to 300,000,000 gold francs. It has been declared that the Russians were asking

Further Step in Religious Freedom

WARSAW, May 8.—A further step in religious freedom has been taken by the Polish government in abolishing the prohibitions of the old Russian domination against the Roman Catholic church. This follows the abolition, some weeks ago, of the anti-Jewish status of the former Russian regime, and clears the books of the new Polish government of all religious proscriptions.

COURT DISBARS JOS. C. PELLETIER REFUSES TO OBEY ORDER TO LEAVE

"No Other Course Open," Says Judge Carroll in Announcing Decision

"Evidence Clear, Undisputed and Convincing"—Finds Charges Sustained

BOSTON, May 8.—The disbarment of Joseph C. Pelletier, recently removed as district attorney of Suffolk county, was ordered by decision of Judge Carroll of the supreme court today. Pelletier had entered no defense, contending that he was forejudged by reason of his removal. The charges were the same—conspiracy to extort money, and improper action in securing and in quashing indictments.

The evidence before me offers no explanation or justification," Judge Carroll's opinion said. "It is clear, undisputed, convincing. The decision of the full court in the petition for the respondent's removal from office as district attorney is a part of the evidence and is uncontroverted. I must find that the charges are sustained. No other course is open to me, nor is any other conclusion reasonable on these facts."

The order for Pelletier's disbarment comes within a short time of that for the disbarment of Daniel H. Conkey, an attorney long prominent in criminal practice, who in the trials on which Pelletier and Nathan A. Tufts were removed as district attorneys was shown to have been involved in obtaining and quashing of charges for large fees. In each case Attorney General Allen introduced records of bank transactions in an attempt to show the district attorney's shares in these fees.

The court held Pelletier gave his aid and assistance and lent the support and influence of the office of district attorney to a conspiracy in the Emerson Motors Co. case. With full knowledge that the company was publishing false and deceptive statements to sell its securities, the court found the respondent entered into a corrupt conspiracy with Conkey and others by which for the sum of $20,500 paid in bills by the New York attorney of the company to Francis M. Carroll (who retained $5000 and paid $15,500 to Conkey) a corporation was organized which was abundant and convincing evidence of falsehood was protected from punishment and allowed to escape prosecution.

Charges were held against Pelletier also that he conspired with Conkey to give up an automobile presented to him by one Lawrence who said to give up "the respondent illegally conspired with Conkey and" by threats of criminal proceedings, compelled her to give up and surrender her rights.

In the charges relating to the Emerson Motors case also, the court found that Pelletier was a conspirator and actively participated in the plot. In this case, in which Conkey and William J. Corcoran, then district at-

Hamilton Mill Gates Open for First Time Since Textile Strike Started Thirteen Weeks Ago Today

Labor Leaders Hearing That Mill Gates Would Open Had 300 Pickets in Line—Pickets Claim That Not More Than 300 Operatives Entered Mill—No Statement Forthcoming From Mill Officials

The gates of the Hamilton mills in Jackson street were thrown open this morning, the first time such action has been taken by the officials of the company since the strike started, 13 weeks ago today.

The exact number of operatives who are working today could not be ascertained as the agent of the mill could not be reached and no one in the office was authorized to speak for the company. Strike leaders, however, claim the number of employees who entered the mill at 7.15 o'clock was not larger than usual, and they base their contention on the reports of the pickets who were on duty at the mill early this morning.

The plant of the Hamilton was never shut down tight, as between 150 and 200 operatives were kept busy at the mill, finishing up products that had been left on the machines.

but these employees were never let in through the mill gates of the plant. According to the strikers, some of the employees entered the mill by way of the boiler room entrance in Middle street, while others went in through the small gate at the office and via the rear end of the mill in the rear of the police station.

This morning, however, the main gates were thrown open and those who wished to enter the mill were

TO SOLVE MEXICO-U. S. PROBLEM

Appointment of International Commission to Consider Issues of Recognition

Continued Failure of U. S. and Mexico to Agree on Program Brince Action

WASHINGTON, May 8.—Appointment of an international commission to consider all the issues involved in American recognition of the Obregon government in Mexico has been suggested in some official quarters as a solution of the continued failure of the United States government and Mexico City authorities to agree on a recognition program.

Although the United States still insists that a positive guaranty against confiscatory provisions of the Mexican constitution of 1917 must precede recognition, it was intimated today that a commission to continue the negotiations would be agreed to here if it were suggested formally by Gen. Obregon. No such request has yet been received.

Alexander Swarduck was put under arrest following Momm's death and the police may face a charge of manslaughter. Swarduck told the police that he and Momm had been members of a drinking party in Momm's home, it is said.

Acting Superintendent of Police Makes Proposition to Town Authorities—Wants Authority of Motorcycle Officers and Police Department Chauffeurs Extended

To further promote the efficiency of the department and to give it an increase in power which will cover most of the territory over which the first district court has jurisdiction, acting Superintendent of Police W. C. MacBryne has sent letters to seven towns surrounding Lowell asking that they appoint motorcycle officers and five chauffeurs of the Lowell police as special officers of each town. The places to which the letters were sent include Billerica, Dunstable, Chelmsford, Dracut, Tyngsboro, Westford and Tewksbury.

Enthusiastic and favorable replies have been received from Dracut, Tyngsboro and Billerica. The others governing bodies in each town appointed motorcycle officers and five Tyngsboro officials called on Superintendent of Police MacBryne.

Fifty-Five Miles on a Cent! Engine Does It

THE ELMER OIL ENGINE, NEW MECHANICAL MARVEL, AND SOME OF THE THINGS IT CAN ACCOMPLISH

By N.E.A. Service
SYRACUSE, N. Y., May 8.—Pay five and one-half cents for a gallon of fuel oil.

Put it in the gas tank of your auto. And travel 300 miles!

You can do that with a new oil engine, just perfected here by H. H. Elmer, the inventor says—and tests bear out his claims.

Experts who've flocked here to inspect the new device declare it will turn the automobile world inside out and may bring automobile travel within the reach of the poorest.

Besides, they predict, it will cheapen transportation and cut down the prices of many manufactured articles, for the engine can be used to operate machinery as well as to run an automobile or truck.

Elmer's engine is based on the newest chemical discovery. It has been learned that oil—mineral, vegetable

When you have skin trouble You need Resinol to stop the itching and burning and heal the eruption. Its cooling touch will save you hours of torture. The ointment that should be in every home. At all druggists and animal—contains elements with the concentrated power of a blast of TNT.

The new engine is simply a device for separating that power from the other elements in the oil and converting it to a productive end. Startling features of the engine are:

Entire mechanism consists of but three adjustments.

It can be run at 3000 revolutions a minute and can be throttled down to 100 revolutions almost instantaneously.

A single cylinder, three-horsepower model has run 15 consecutive hours on 25 ounces of fuel oil.

Engines built for the heaviest work will weigh only 350 pounds. Auto engines of other types often weigh 600.

It will be 60 per cent. cheaper to produce than engines now used.

It requires no spark, carburetor or other kind of ignition.

"The engine is a marvel of simplicity," Elmer says. "When you realize a Diesel engine has 12,000 parts, you'll know it means something to simplify an engine to 64 parts, including all screws."

Elmer expects to have his engine on the market within 60 days. He will manufacture five different types.

JOHN H. PATTERSON DEAD

Founder and Retired President of National Cash Register Co. Drops Dead

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., May 8.—John H. Patterson, founder of the National Cash Register Co., Dayton, O., and chairman of its board of directors, died suddenly yesterday aboard a train bound for this city.

He was stricken with a heart attack and died before medical assistance could reach him. He was chatting with his valet when, as the train passed through Kirkwood, Camden county, he suddenly fell unconscious. A physician on the train vainly tried to revive him. He had been a sufferer from a chronic cardiac condition.

The body was sent to an undertaking parlor here. William Roberts, the valet, notified the family.

Mr. Patterson had reservations at a beach front hotel, where he was to have stayed two weeks for the benefit of his health. Arrangements probably will be made to take the body to Dayton.

John Henry Patterson, who started life as a farmhand near Dayton, Ohio, and established the biggest business of its kind in the world on the land that he had plowed as a boy, retired as president of the National Cash Register company on July 16, 1921. Upon retirement he was elected chairman of the board of directors, an honorary position. At the time of retiring, he was 77 years old, having been born on a farm December 13, 1844.

He did farm work, canal toll collecting, retailing of coal, mine operating, and finally "went west" to seek his fortune as a ranch owner and orchard owner before he hit the central idea of his career, manufacturing and selling cash registers.

Mr. Patterson studied two years at Miami university at Oxford, Ohio, and afterward at Dartmouth.

After his venture as a ranchman in Colorado he returned to Dayton, where he set up a factory for making cash registers, employing at first 18 men. After achieving success he aided to transform a slum factory district into sanitary and better working conditions.

In 1901 France made him chevalier of the Legion of Honor in token of his interest in employees and in 1919 Miami university at Oxford, Ohio, Miami gave him the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws for welfare work and advanced business methods.

In the Dayton flood of 1913, Mr. Patterson staved off the threatened destruction of his business and helped the city to recover from the disaster.

His civic work resulted in placing the city under commission management and his appointment as chairman of a commission by the governor of Ohio. Through Mr. Patterson's personal supervision, $2,000,000 was raised to prevent future floods in Dayton.

In the world war he placed his factory at the disposal of the government but refused to accept contracts on a cost plus basis. He said it was not right to work on a basis where the more he spent the more he made, because the tax-payers of the nation had to bear the burden.

He termed business a battle of wits and the man who thought the fastest almost always was declared the winner.

Mr. Patterson was the son of Col. Robertson Patterson, founder of Lexington, Ky. His mother, Julia Robert Patterson, was the daughter of Col. John Johnson, famous Ohio Indian agent of the United States government. His wife was formerly Katherine Beck, of Brookline, Mass.

KIRVIN, Tex., May 8.—Kirvin was quiet today, following rumors that armed bands of negroes were marching toward the town to avenge the burnings Saturday of three negroes, who were accused of attacking and murdering a 17-year-old white girl.

O. C. King, city marshal, said the rumors might have originated when about 60 negroes had a religious gathering here. This meeting broke up, according to the marshal, when the negroes were informed that its purpose might be misconstrued.

Radio Frequency Hook-Up Increases Receiving Range of Set

HOOK-UP OF RADIO FREQUENCY AMPLIFIER

BY R. L. DUNCAN
Director, Radio Institute of America
To increase the receiving range of a radio set, arrange it in a radio frequency hook-up. This will pick up signals from far-away points that could not otherwise be detected.
Differing from the arrangement in audio frequency, it will be noted that the radio frequency amplifiers are placed ahead of the detector. This strengthens the signals which would be too feeble otherwise to pass into the detector with enough of rectification.

In an audio frequency circuit the amplifier is placed after the detector to give greater volume to the incoming signals after passing through the detector.

Hook-Up
Referring to the diagram, we have the actual with a variable condenser in series.

No. 1 represents the antenna inductance. This should be a honeycomb or double-lateral coil, the size to be used depending upon the desired wave length.
No. 2 and No. 3—Amplifier, or "tuned," vacuum tubes.
No. 4 and No. 5—Efficient rheostats.
No. 6 and No. 7—Potentiometers which vary the variation of the filament current.
No. 8 and No. 9—Radio frequency transformers.
No. 10—Variable condenser of about .0005 microfarads, connected in the plate circuit of the second amplifying tube.
No. 11—Another variable condenser.

No. 12—Grid condenser of .00025 microfarads and grid leak of 1 megohm.
No. 13—Detector tube.
No. 14—Rheostat controlling filament current in detector tube.
No. 15—Pick-off coil giving regeneration to the circuit. This may be a variometer or a honeycomb, or double-lateral coil.
No. 16—High resistance head phones shunted by fixed condenser.
No. 17—Six-volt storage or "A" battery.
No. 18—Variable "B" battery which should have a varying voltage from 17 to 45 volts.
The amplifying tubes take approximately 45 volts on the plate while the detector tube takes approximately 225 volts. "B" batteries may be purchased with varying steps. These would be preferable in this hook-up. To further increase the receptive power of the set, audio amplification may be added after the detector for a still greater volume of reception.

PICTURES SENT BY RADIO

Greatest Development in
Wireless Yet Announced—
Experiments Satisfactory

BY EDWARD M. THURRY
(Copyright, 1922, by N.E.A. Service)
WASHINGTON, May 8.—C. Francis Jenkins, noted inventor, has given N.E.A. Service the first public explanation of an epoch-making invention—the long distance camera.
Radio photography, says Jenkins, is an accomplished fact.
Photographs—perhaps even motion pictures—can be sent by wireless. The new invention includes a device by which pictures can be sent securely a tremendous weapon in warfare and criminology.
The first hint of this startling invention was given by Jenkins at a closed meeting of the Society of Motion Picture Engineers, of which he is the founder, in Boston. His special permission of the society Jenkins gave an interview to the writer describing the details of his discovery.
Jenkins is the man who is given credit for making movies possible by inventing the intermittent movement of the projector.
"Within a year," said Jenkins, "I expect to have apparatus so perfected that long distance cameras will be made, and receiving set will be in the hands of the public for sending photographs by radio any distance.

C. FRANCIS JENKINS

"I have sent pictures from one room to another in my laboratory. The pictures are faithful in every detail."
"Two portable glass discs are used in front of the lens to take the picture. The lens is mounted by a special mechanism in the center of the disc. The pictures are taken by a radio photographing set, which is connected to an ordinary radio sending set.
"Beams of light are stepped up to high frequency electric waves and are sent in the same manner as sound waves are transmitted into wireless waves and broadcasted.
"At the receiving end a new device is attached in place of the ear piece now in use and the wireless waves are stepped down into beams of light and the image taken far away is projected on the negative. As in an ordinary camera, the negative is then developed and copies printed.

"Radio photography is the same as radio telephony," he said. "Wireless waves are impressed with picture characteristics instead of with sound characteristics. The picture sending set takes the place of the audio and the receiving set takes the place of the telephone receivers."
Naval authorities already have pointed out to Jenkins the tremendous possibilities of sending aerial pictures.
"The picture sent by radio has limitations in one corner a tiny black spot," Jenkins explained. "This is the synchronizing spot. Without it

HOW THEY'LL USE RADIO PHOTOS

There are some of the uses C. Francis Jenkins, inventor of the "long distance camera," sees in radio photography.
Investigation of crime and speeding up pursuit by broadcast pictures of suspects.
Military and naval weapon by transmission of aerial pictures.
Broadcasting of important baseball games on screens in other cities.
Educational pictures transmitted to schools.
Cheaper and quicker distribution of motion picture films.

"The spot tells him where to focus. Before the picture is sent, word is sent by radio telling him whether the synchronizing spot is in the upper left hand corner, upper right, lower center or wherever the sender wishes.

"Or a definite place for the synchronizing spot can be agreed upon in advance.
"By this means pictures of enemy positions and a thousand and one other things caught by cameras can be transmitted secretly by wireless.
"A photograph need not be taken first and then sent by radio. A camera with an inexpensive portable aerial can take the picture and at the same time automatically send it secretly to a certain receiving set or broadcast it generally.
"Pictures of criminal suspects can be taken and instantly duplicated in every police station in the country.
"Devices for both sending and receiving probably will not cost over $50, making possible wide commercial use."

Jenkins is continuing his experiments, chiefly concerned with conquering distance. Until that is accomplished, he says, wireless relay makes radio photography possible immediately.

Summer Slump in Radio to Precede Greater Interest in Fall

Look for a drop in radio enthusiasm during summer.
That is a recurrence of interest in fall, even greater than ever.
That's the prediction of radio engineers and experts who are following the radio situation keenly.
The best of interest in radio during summer will be due mainly to two causes—heat and stable weather.
Heat will drive radio fans out of their attics. Outdoor sports will break into the interest in wireless.
But even those who will insist on tinkering with their receiving sets in spite of the weather, will not state an objection at great and, sometimes greater, than the heat.

Worst Interference
Static does its worst during summer. At times it becomes so powerful that it endangers the delicate construction of the telephone receivers.

Combination of both these obstructions to wireless practically all year round, makes the radio zone almost impossible. A powerful set which in the temperate zones can send and receive signals up to 500 and even 1,000 miles distant, could hardly be heard as close as 10 miles away near the equator.
While heat and static will keep the radio fan from his set during summer, engineers and officials of the radio manufacturing firms will be busy perfecting the instruments in preparation of greater interest in the coming next fall.

Broadcasting System
Already plans are under way for a nation-wide system of broadcasting stations by which concerts and other forms of entertainment will be sent out by radio under the control of a central station.
"The American Telephone and Telegraph company in connection with the Radio Corporation of America and other large radio firms will be the leaders in this enterprise. At

A WHO'S WHO ON JENKINS

Who is C. Francis Jenkins? Years ago he was a clerk in the treasury department. At night he worked on inventions.
"I was going broke doing that," says Jenkins, "so I resigned. I decided to let my inventions save me or kill me."

Jenkins is recognized as the greatest contributor to motion picture mechanics. His intermittent movement for the projector is called the "heart and soul of motion picture." He is the inventor of electrical devices and paper boxes, and holds some 350 patents.

Wealthy now, Jenkins owns three airplanes and he and Mrs. Jenkins take 100-mile spins almost daily.
Jenkins is in his fifties, a short man with bulky shoulders, reddish mustache, sandy hair and blue eyes.

though nothing definite has yet been said about such plans, it is understood work is progressing toward the development of a national broadcasting system under control of these organizations.

In fact, an officer of one of these concerns has predicted the use of such a system in connection with the wired telephone lines over the country. With the immense central station now being erected on Long Island, New York, as main source, concerts and other programs would be sent over the wired lines to the 25 or more sub-stations scattered about the country, from which they could be broadcasted locally.

The high mass at St. Margaret's church yesterday was sung by Rev. William P. Drannan. The pastor, Rev. C. J. Galligan, officiated at the 6 o'clock mass, and Rev. Andrew P. O'Brien was the celebrant at the 7:30 and 9 o'clock masses. There was a meeting of the Holy Name society yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock. May devotions will be held Tuesday and Thursday evenings at 7:30 and on Friday evening in the lower auditorium, with Rev. Fr. O'Brien in charge, the last in the series of whist parties for the benefit of a new shrine in the church, will be held.

The early masses at St. Columba's church yesterday were celebrated by Rev. John G. Hogan, and the late mass by Rev. John P. Somers. On Monday, Wednesday and Friday evenings May devotions will be held at 7:30 o'clock.

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

Some Easy and Tasty Ways to Prepare Salt Pork

Salted and smoked meats and fish are always acceptable in the spring and summer months. Many housekeepers in the country are wholly dependent on cured meats for use in hot weather.

Salt pork has solved the problem for more than one noonday dinner table.

CRISP SALT PORK
Cut the pork as in the preceding rule. Cover with boiling water and let stand five minutes. Drain and dip in flour. Put in a hot frying pan over a slow fire. Cook slowly to a golden brown, first on one side and then the other. As the fat fries out in the spider pour it off. This makes the pork very crisp and sweet.

SALT PORK WITH CREAM GRAVY
Eight slices salt pork, four cups pepper, 2 cups rich milk, 1 dessertspoon minced parsley.
Cut the slices of pork about one-fourth of an inch thick. If very salty pour boiling water over meat. Let stand five minutes and drain. Dip in flour and sprinkle with pepper. Frying pan should be very hot. Brown quickly on one side, turn and brown on the other. Then cook not slowly until the outside is crisp. Drain on brown paper and arrange on a hot platter.

Pour all but two tablespoons of fat from frying pan. Add one and one-half tablespoons flour, one-eighth teaspoon pepper and stir until flour and fat are perfectly blended and the flour is a pale straw color. Add milk slowly, stirring constantly till the sauce is thick and smooth. Pour into a gravy boat, sprinkle with minced parsley and serve at once.

SALT PORK WITH BEANS
Two cups dried beans, 14 teaspoon soda, 1 medium sized onion, 1 cup diced carrots, 2 pound salt pork, 14 teaspoon mustard, 2 tablespoons molasses, 1 teaspoon pepper, 2 cups canned tomatoes. Wash beans carefully and let stand overnight in cold water. Drain and put in kettle with soda and hot water to cover. Bring to boiling point and boil 10 minutes. Drain and rinse in cold water. Do not pour the water in which the beans were cooked in the sink.

Put the onion, peeled but unsliced, in the bottom of the baking dish. Add half the beans and half the carrots. Pour boiling water over salt pork. Scrape the rind and score in inch squares. Put pork on beans and carrots. Cover with remaining vegetables.

Add mustard, molasses and pepper to tomatoes. Pour over beans and add enough boiling water to cover the whole. Cover and bake three or four hours in a slow oven or fireless cooker. During the last hour of baking bring the pork to the top of the dish to brown. If the oven is hot when the dish is put in, the beans will not lose their shape and become mushy. Reduce the heat as soon as the whole boils all over.

Fleischmann's
fresh yeast
helps digestion and
cleans a coated tongue

THOUSANDS of men and women have found relief from various digestive disturbances by eating Fleischmann's Yeast.

It is human nature to want to find out "why." So far as science can tell us this is the reason:
Fleischmann's Yeast is a food abundant in certain elements which are necessary to health and life itself. It promotes the flow of bile and of pancreatic juice. It has a remarkably beneficial effect on the whole digestive system. It cleans a coated tongue.

Try Fleischmann's fresh yeast in orange juice or, if you prefer, in milk. Men like it in milk; shakes and malted milks. Women like it spread on bread or crackers.

Keep your digestion in the pink of condition and your tongue clean and healthy by eating 2 or 3 cakes of Fleischmann's Yeast fresh every day before or between meals. Get Fleischmann's Yeast fresh daily from your grocer.

ANNUAL MAY FESTIVAL LAWRENCE MILL OPENS

Ladies' Aid Society of St. Patrick's Parish Plan Big Event

Great activity is being shown during these days in St. Patrick's parish concerning the May Festival to be held in Associate hall, Wednesday, May 10. An effort is being made to make the event this year one of the most successful ever. The object for which the society works—namely work among the needy of the parish—makes its social events very popular—since the proceeds are given over to such a worthy cause. During the rest of the year the members of the Ladies' Aid work quietly and without any show, but on the occasion of the annual festival the members put forth their best energies in a public-spirited way.

The program in the afternoon will be given over the children, and will consist in a series of fancy and character dances under the supervision of Miss Charlotte M. Green.

In the evening the program will be of a very novel character consisting of a "Grand Indian Pow-Wow," directed by Mr. John F. Plunkett of Boston. In the east will be a large number of the young men and young women of the parish who for a considerable length of time have been rehearsing. These will be assisted in the musical novelty by a couple of artists from Boston, who will be sure to please.

The various booths will be presided over by competent chairmen, each with a long line of assistants and these women will be assisted by some of the ardent workers from among the men.

Officers and committees are as follows: Program, John J. Whelan; decorating, Miss Nellie Bourke; Mrs. Joseph Green; Mrs. Elizabeth Keefe; printing, Miss Josephine Murphy and Mrs. Alice Parent; table table, chairman, Miss Josephine Lyons; tea cream table, chairman, Miss Anna Riley; novelty table, chairman, Mrs. Peter Savage; cake table, chairman, Miss Anna Keefe; "old-fashioned grocery store," in charge of Miss Della Eury; Hindu washing well, in charge of Miss Sarah Murray; floor director, Charles J. Leary; assistant floor director, Raymond O'Brien; chief aid, William Barrett.

GREEK COMMUNITY HOLDS MEETING

About 500 members of the local Greek community attended a special meeting held last evening in the basement of the Greek orthodox church, in Jefferson street. The meeting, so it is claimed, was called by President James for the purpose of discussing the proposed new by-laws of the community, but instead there was a general discussion of the various regulations.

It will be remembered that some time ago, acting under the by-laws

Reopens, But Few Return to Work

LAWRENCE, May 8.—The Patchogue-Plymouth plant reopens, but few return to work. Lawrence, May 8.—The Patchogue-Plymouth plant, whose offer of a compromise wage reduction was refused last Friday by the 400 strikers of that mill, opened its gates today for those who wanted to go to work. Police officers on duty in the vicinity said very few took advantage of the opportunity and the few who did go to work were booed and jeered by a hundred or more pickets. There were also about 50 pickets in the vicinity of the Monmouth Spinning company, but there was no trouble.

The "Commopollan club composed of national groups of employees of the American Woolen company, at field day exercises yesterday adopted a resolution condemning the activities of "agitators and disturbers in Lawrence who are trying to create a feeling of unrest in the minds of the people."

A week ago Lawrence wrote a letter to William M. Wood, president of the company, demanding an increase of wages for American Woolen company workers.

Some of these agitators made efforts to reach our national meetings to influence our minds against the manufacturers and against the city itself," the resolution declared. "While we realize that our brothers and sisters who are engaged in an industrial dispute deserve our greatest sympathy, we feel that the efforts of those people who are preaching discontent are not making for their advantage."

Of the community, Secretary James Kyrrills ordered the registration closed for February 32 but his action was criticized by President Dana with the result that at a mass meeting held shortly afterwards the secretary was removed from office by the president. Since that time, however, the secretary was reinstated to office at a mass meeting, but the matter of reopening the registration in accordance with the wishes of the president, was postponed to a later date.

It was stated today that at another meeting held recently it was voted to uphold the secretary and that registration would remain closed until after the annual election, which is scheduled to be held Memorial day.

Shortly after the opening of last night's meeting the question of registration was again brought for discussion and finally, so it is reported, 30 of the 500 present voted to reopen the registration, the others refusing to vote, as they deemed the affair closed. It is believed by several of the community that if the registration is reopened, the election will have to be postponed to a later date.

President Dana's version of the affair could not be learned, as Mr. Dana left the city this morning and will not return until next Wednesday.

HENRY P. DAVISON LEFT ESTATE OF $10,000,000

NEW YORK, May 8.—From a close friend of Henry P. Davison, who died Saturday, it has been learned he left an estate of about $10,000,000. He carried a very heavy life insurance, but the exact amount was not ascertainable yesterday. Mr. Davison's public benefactions were large.

More details of the operation which preceded Mr. Davison's death have been disclosed. An informant after Dr. Charles A. Elberg had reopened the brain last Saturday morning he saw the financier's end was at hand. Mr. Davison died on the operating table one hour and a half after the operation was begun.

Mr. Davison had but a short time to live—50 days at the most—even had the doctors been able to accomplish what they expected to do. Only Saturday night a small plot in the Locust Valley cemetery was purchased, and Tuesday, according to his request the body will be placed in the little cemetery, following a simple funeral ceremony in St. John's church, Lattingtown, L. I.

Messages of sympathy from all over the world have poured into the Davison home. Late yesterday morning 900 telegrams and cable messages had been received.

The honorary bearers will be all the members of the J. P. Morgan firm. The official bearers will be chosen today. The honorary list is J. P. Morgan, Edward T. Stotesbury, William B. Hamilton, Charles Steele, William R. Porter, Thomas W. Lamont, Horatio G. Lloyd, Dwight W. Morrow, Edwin R. Steinhilber, Thomas Cochran, Julius S. Morgan, Elliot C. Bacon, George Whitney, Thomas S. Three London partners, J. G. Grenfell, Victor Smith and Charles F. Whigham, the Paris representative, Col. H. H. Harjes, John R. Carter and N. D. Gay will also be honorary bearers.

O.M. hall yesterday afternoon to hear sub-committee reports on plans for the annual fair and Irish program, which is to be held at Spaulding park on May 20. The meeting was presided over by Patrick Lennahan, P.C.R.

The report of Financial Secretary Nevin was read and accepted. It showed the order to be in good condition with no members reported on sick list. Six candidates have passed the examination, were balloted on and will be admitted to the order.

At the next meeting of the general committee a chief marshal for the fair will be selected, by ballot, from a list of six candidates. The Emmett band of Irish pipers has been engaged to head the parade on May 30.

Chairman Nevin of the sports committee announced that valuable prizes will be given for Irish dancing and singing and that the O'Garra pipe and string band would furnish music.

Field Secretary Leahy announced that the Irish republican delegates may attend the field day.

BLEACHERS FOR BASEBALL FANS

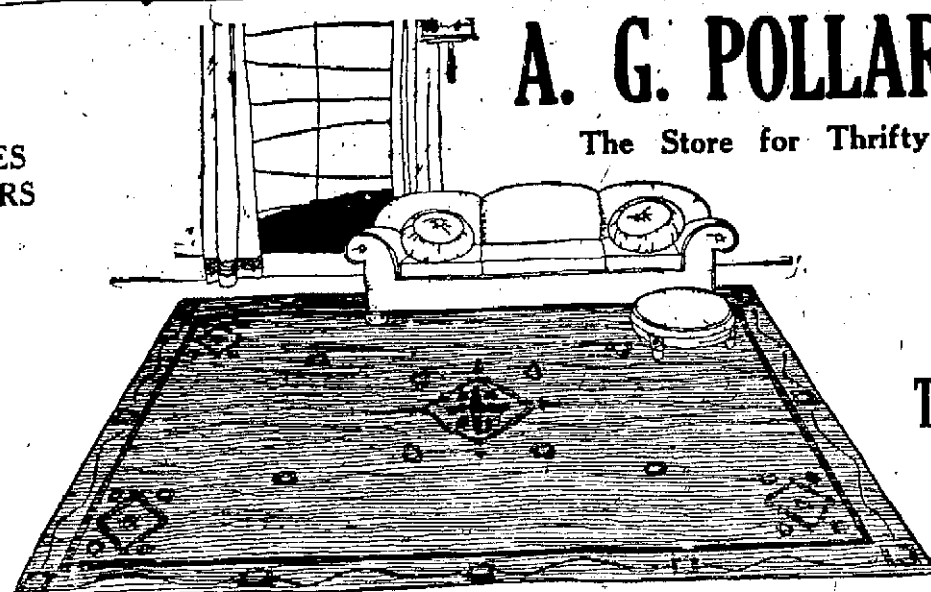

Employees of the park department will begin the erection of the new bleachers for baseball fans at the South common. The stand will be 210 feet long and will have eight tiers of seats. It will extend from the present backstop down the third base line and will accommodate upwards of 600 persons.

The bank on the Summer street side of the common will still serve as a natural bleacher stand and the new seats will do away with the congestion that usually was apparent there.

FOUR HOUR RIOT IN CHICAGO JAIL

Outbreak Quelled by Warden
and 30 Guards Who
Whipped Ringleaders

Riot Started on Fourth Tier—
Flaming Blankets Dropped
to Ground Floor

CHICAGO, May 8.—A four-hour riot in the Cook county jail was quelled early today when Wesley Westbrook, warden, and 30 guards removed the ringleaders from their cells one at a time and whipped them. Displeasure of the prisoners over a change in the method of admitting visitors led to the outbreak.

The riot started on the fourth tier. Flaming blankets were dropped to the ground floor. Dense smoke almost suffocated many inmates. With steel strips torn from their bunks, the prisoners beat upon the bars of their cells, the bedlam being heard for blocks. Crowds gathered at the jail entrance and police were called to drive them away.

Warden Westbrook said that after each of more than 900 prisoners had a visitor on a recent visiting day so many packages were left that it took the entire jail force nearly all night to sort them. Guns, saws, files, drugs and all manner of contraband was found, he said.

The warden then decided to divide the jail into four sections and permit only one fourth of the prisoners to have visitors at a time.

MOTHER'S DAY MAY 14

Gen. Pershing Approves
Legion Auxiliary's Plan
for Observance

INDIANAPOLIS, May 8.—Approval of the American Legion auxiliary's plan for observance of Mother's day, May 14, has been received from Gen. Pershing by Mrs. Lowell F. Hobart, national president.

"It is a pleasure for me to add my tribute to our mothers," Gen. Pershing wrote. "The source of all that is best in us, our inspiration for great ideals and our haven of comfort in time of trouble, rests in the mothers of the world, who are responsible for all that is sweet and wholesome in life. To the mothers of America, we bow in grateful appreciation and in unending love."

Gen. Pershing said every man in the United States army would be urged to write a letter home on Mother's day.

WAR VET ASKS GUARD

Going to Washington to Press
Charge of Attempt to Drive
Him Out of U. S.

NEWARK, N. J., May 8.—A request that the British embassy send an agent to escort him from the station tomorrow, so that he would not be molested, has been made by Alexander E. Robertson, British war veteran, who plans to go to Washington to press his charges that private detectives attempted to railroad him out of the country because of his efforts to win the hand of Miss Mary Culbertson, daughter of Senator Charles A. Culbertson of Texas.

Robertson is seeking to have the embassy assist him in obtaining the arrest of John R. Huland and T. G. Anderson on charges of impersonating federal officers. He already has caused the arrest of John P. Ellis, another detective, on a charge of kidnapping. The friendship between Robertson and Miss Culbertson was said to have started at the University of Texas, three months ago, where they both were students. The two met again recently in Washington.

The automobile that figured in the accident is owned and was being operated by Everett W. DINNER GIVEN BY HEBREW DRAMATIC CLUB

Last night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Goldman, in Foster street, the cast of the "District Attorney" was tendered a testimonial dinner by the Lowell Hebrew Dramatic club.

Placed before each member of the cast were gifts attached with original poems written by Mrs. Goldman. Vocal selections were rendered by Miss Rose Neyman, Miss Pearl Blum, Louis Neyman and Bernard Knopf.

President Max Cohen, on behalf of the club, presented William R. Sydenham, the director of the play, with a gold Eversharp pencil and fountain pen. Mr. Sydenham responded fittingly. No sooner had Mr. Sydenham been honored than Meyer Lipchitz presented Miss Mary Cohen, the assistant director, a silver fountain pen. Miss Cohen expressed her appreciation of the kind remembrance.

General dancing was then enjoyed until a late hour. Ira Harris had general charge, assisted by Millie J. Sandler and Alice E. Ziskind.

A paper on "The Art of Weaving" will be read by George F. Morgan at the next meeting of the Lowell Historical society, which is scheduled for Wednesday night in Memorial hall at 7:30 o'clock.

Hearing on Picketing Injunction

PAWTUCKET, R. I., May 8.—The 16th week of the strike of the textile workers in the Blackstone valley opened today with the approach of the mills affected practically deserted by pickets, with the exception of the mill of the Home Bleach & Dye Co., the only concern that has not obtained a restraining order against picketing. About 50 strike sympathizers gathered there, but no trouble followed. Labor leaders say the number of workers reappearing today at the mills affected was no larger than last week, although letters requesting them to return were received by some of the strikers last week. Interest in labor circles centers today in the hearing in the superior court on the application of the Jencks Spinning Co., for an injunction against picketing near its mills or at the homes of its workers.

STRIKERS HOLD MASS MEETING

Local Textile Strikers Addressed by John J. Frey of Cincinnati

Meeting Held Under Auspices of Textile Council and Molders' Union

John P. Frey, of Cincinnati, O., editor of the International Workers' Journal, was the speaker at a mass meeting of strikers and local people interested in the labor movement, which was held in the Academy of Music in Dutton street yesterday afternoon. The meeting was the fourth in a series conducted under the auspices of the Lowell Textile Council and was held under the auspices of both the council and the Lowell Molders' Union.

John Hanley, president of the council and strike leader, opened the meeting and introduced as presiding officer, Charles E. Anderson, president of the Trades & Labor Council. In his opening remarks Mr. Anderson told of the various offices Mr. Frey has held during the past 25 years. He has received the public life of the visitor, earning his living on diplomatic missions to Europe, visiting the allied governments on two various occasions and that he also represented the American Federation of Labor at European, Canadian and Pan-American congresses. He introduced Mr. Frey as a man well versed in labor affairs and as a friend of labor.

In his address Mr. Frey declared that in his opinion the manufacturers who say to their help "you shall accept a lower scale of wages and longer hours" and who at the same time refuse to recognize their responsibility to answer to the public, are immeasurably more a menace than all the radicals and firebrands who have preached assassination in this country, and they are the slayers of American institutions.

In his opening remarks Mr. Frey said his mission was not to arouse enthusiasm, but to discuss the textile wage situation as it exists and to place the responsibilities of the strikes and their causes. In other words, he said, I will analyze the situation as I see it.

Mr. Frey then told of the circumstances that made him a trade unionist. Many years ago, he said, he set out to compare the trade unionist movement with the principles of American government and Christianity. "Had I found that trade unionism was inconsistent with American principles, or with my religious belief," he said, "I would not have become a member of any union."

"Only these today is that the stand taken by the manufacturers in this textile wage dispute, is unchristian, un-American and economically unsound. The strike here is not a mere quest for higher wages or shorter hours of labor. It is something more. It is a question of liberty of justice between men, principles which persuade them to confer or go to the polls with their problems rather than resort to the cannon."

"This is Sunday and an appropriate day on which to talk over this situation. Jesus was a carpenter. His apostles were workers. And I believe that a verse in the Bible is applicable to the matter in hand. This verse from the epistles of James read, 'Behold the hire of the laborers who have reaped down your fields, which you have held back by fraud, cry out!'"

Textile Situation
"Now if I understand the textile situation in Rhode Island and Massachusetts, the workers are crying out against wages held back by fraud. I take it that there is no such thing as a Christianity which a man can put on and take off like an overcoat. Moreover, I take it that there are no American principles which a man can put on and take off in the same way."

"In analyzing the situation I find

SUMMER SCHOOL WILL OPEN JULY 10

The summer school at the Massachusetts Agricultural college will not open until July 10, on account of the meeting of the national teachers association at Boston July 5 to 8. The plan followed in previous years has been completely modified. The school is elementary education for public school teachers, offered by the state department of education, will be given at the Normal school at North Adams. These courses were offered at the Massachusetts Agricultural college to determine whether or not there should be established in western Massachusetts, courses for elementary school teachers. The demand for these courses during the past two years at the college has proved the necessity of organizing such a school.

An unusually attractive program for teachers of home economics, home-makers, etc., is offered in a series of courses in dressmaking, foods, clothing and millinery. The needs of the interest in agriculture will be met by courses in poultry, fruit growing, vegetable growing, and beekeeping. A program of special courses for teachers of agriculture will also be provided. The special unit courses for disabled veterans that have been offered by the college for the past three years will be discontinued after July 1st. These courses were organized to meet the emergency that arose in providing places to care for the men who were seeking training. The veterans who are sent to the college after July 1st will enter the regular courses already organized.

IMPROVEMENT ASSOCIATION
At a special meeting of the members of the Ward & Freeman & Improvement association held in North street yesterday afternoon with President Joseph Ready in the chair, the new by-laws of the organization were adopted. The by-laws were submitted by the following committee: John Ward, Patrick Greening and Peter Nova. The business session was transacted and at the close of the meeting an interesting address on the welfare of the organization was delivered by the president.

that the manufacturers take the position that there is nothing to say. We are not going to be accountable to the public, they declare. I find that their position is like that of a defendant who refuses to testify because he might say something incriminating.

"We may rest assured that if the manufacturers felt their case to be economically and morally sound their long experience with publicity would have led them to flood the papers with statements. The fact that they have remained silent is proof in fair minds that their case will not stand the light of the press."

"What a spectacle human nature presents some times! Only a few years ago when the war was in progress, these same men were appealing to the consciences of the workers to help with the war. They didn't use arbitrary methods then. They even demanded that labor submit to arbitration. So it happens that these same men who a few months ago were champions of arbitration now refuse to submit to such a process on the ground that if the board decided in favor of the workers they would be unable to run their mills."

"This extension of the working day is neither sound nor necessary. But you may be sure that it will work to the detriment of the workers. If I came here to set up an institution that would lower morals and your standard of life, you would find some way of eliminating me. I tell you that when a manufacturer sets out to determine the standard of living for a worker he is acting unethically."

Slatter of Wages
"In the past we have been prone to regard the matter of wages as something connected merely with dollars and cents. If you stop a moment and think you will find that the dollars and cents should be viewed rather in the light of a standard of living and opportunity for ourselves and for our children. The dollars and cents of pay envelope determine what kind of a home you will have. They determine whether you live in a two room flat in a crowded tenement without a bath or whether you will live in a cottage with a yard for the children. Not only do they determine that kind of a home you will have, but they determine the quantity and quality of your food, which in turn determines your strength and the health of your children. They determine your physical, moral and mental condition. Statistics prove that all you have to do to determine the infant mortality of the any group is to find the wages of the father. Moreover, the dollars and cents of the pay envelope determine the degree of opportunity your children will enjoy and also the length of your own life."

Continuing Mr. Frey said the struggles that are now going on in various textile centers of Rhode Island, Massachusetts and New Hampshire are not a fight against dollars, but a controversy about life itself, and when this question is at issue and a group of men stand up to determine the standard of living for thousands, it is high time for all good citizens to think it over.

Industrial Liberty
"With our religious and political liberties in this country," he declared, "we must also have industrial liberty, and I feel that no man should arbitrarily determine what your working conditions and standard of life should be. I believe that the manufacturers recognize the weakness of their case, and that their own position is unsound, but they have, because of conditions, to be able to force their way."

"The agitator, the man who creates violence, comes into your midst, but you will not tolerate him, for he is a tyrant, instills poison into the minds of men."

Mr. Frey then addressed the strikers, saying the justice of their cause is one thing and the winning of it is another. He said the danger of losing the fight was in the split in ranks that may be brought about by manufacturers or their agents, and warned his listeners to be on the lookout for such action. "Keep your feet together," he said, "and you will have won industrial liberty." The conclusion by analyzing there is no place for arbitrary split in American institutions.

At the close of Mr. Frey's address Mr. Hanley announced that on the evening of May 18 a dance and social will be conducted for the benefit of the strikers in Merrimack and Grafton halls. He also announced that the visitor was leaving immediately for Manchester, N. H., where he was scheduled to address the strike gatherings.

THREAT TO BLOW UP U. S. LEGATION AT SOFIA

SOFIA, Bulgaria, May 8.—(By the Associated Press)—A threat to blow up the American legation here unless the United States brings about the release of Sacco and Vanzetti, communists, under conviction for murder in Massachusetts has been received at the legation.

The threat is contained in an article in a clandestinely published anarchist newspaper which, encased in a red wrapper, was sent to the American minister, Charles C. Wilson.

"The second bomb will not fail," the article says, referring to the explosion of an informal machine at the legation on March 11. The building is being watched day and night by special agents.

Children brought up on a diet of denatured foods that flood the American table, must become puny and stunted individuals! Food robbed of its life-sustaining elements cannot produce health and strong bodies!

Every child in America should eat Kellogg's whole-wheat Krumbles at least once daily. Krumbles put into the body ALL the vital elements subtracted from the daily foods we eat! Krumbles are life-sustaining, body-building, health-assuring! And Krumbles are delicious—because they are whole-wheat, flavored for the first time in history!

Your entire family—children, the workers and the aged, will thrive wonderfully on Krumbles!

The only whole-wheat food with a delicious flavor!

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

At a meeting of the board of directors of the chamber of commerce held this noon a list of routine business was transacted, but nothing of importance came before the gathering. President Edward Fisher occupied the chair.

May Strike Another Snag

Continued
411-512 Tremont building, Boston. Whether he is an officer of the company is not known.

City Solicitor Edward J. Tierney was not in town today and it could not be learned whether or not further investigation will be made before the contract is signed.

There is another angle to the story, too. When the Plant Engineering Co. submitted the low bid of $1.35 per square yard for sheet asphalt, it attached a memorandum to the proposal to the effect that if the city contracted for 100,000 square yards of asphalt during 1922 and 1923 at the end of that period the company would turn over to the city, free, a sheet asphalt mixing plant, valued at $15,500.

This situation was protested by the representative of the Framingham Construction and Supply Co., who also protested all bids while an injunction against the city was pending, for the reason that it was outside the specifications. He claimed that such an offer should not be considered as the city had not signified any intention of going into the business of mixing road material.

There is also a question as to whether or not the city has the right to enter into a two-year contract. If the Plant Co. receives the contract, it will be six weeks before its mixing apparatus is set up in the city, ready to use, said City Engineer Kearney today. Once working, however, the sheet asphalt is laid very rapidly.
